EXPRESSION OF APPROVAL—From Mamie at her first glimpses of the Walnut Creek area. "What, No Smog?" she retorted. From this comparison alone, to Los Angeles, it would come as no surprise if we see her up here again in the very near future. Welcoming Mamie are Dick Pedracci, executive manager of the Lora chain, and Sam Enea, owner of the Concord Inn, Willow Pass Road. —Sun photo

Area Wives Can Relax, Mamie's Gone Back Home

By JOHN TEALE

To quote a nowadays familiar expression of American vernacular—LIKE WOW!!!

My traveling companion, for while last week anyway, happened to be none other than that glamorous and glittering star of screen and stage—Mamie Van Doren.

Mamie was in the East Bay at the behest of the up and coming chain of grocery stores—Lora.

Mamie was here Thursday, Friday and returned to Los Angeles Saturday. She put in appearances at the Lora Stores in Walnut Creek and also in San Pablo and Richmond.

THE ENGAGEMENT I might add was a resounding success. Sometimes such ventures fall flat but not in this case as many of the area residents can vouch for.

Miss Van Doren was besieged in all three locations by star gazers beseeching her for autographed pictures of herself.

Altogether she put in about four hours total at the Walnut Creek store while an additional 10 hours were divided between the San Pablo and Richmond locations to say nothing of personal visits to area Drive In's and restaurants.

HER ENTRANCE into this "theater of operations" was somewhat clouded by the fact that not only did she arrive by an airplane which she was not scheduled to take which caused her to arrive earlier than anticipated but because of so doing she missed the reception committee which was steadfastly awaiting her plane at the anticipated location.

There, by the airport equivalent to a gang plank, we watched three aircraft taxi in. I had my camera trained on the exit door to get a shot of Mamie's entrance into the area. It didn't contain our visitor.

Advised that no other aircraft from Los Angeles was due for some considerable time by that airline we split up and stationed ourselves at other points where planes were expected which she might be on.

No such luck and shortly I received the mind jolting reaction that was caused by my own name being called over the intercom. A message had been received that the worst possible thing that could have happened had already done so. Mamie had arrived and since no one was there to meet her (or so she thought) she had taken a private limousine into San Francisco to endeavor to make her own way to Concord.

FORTUNATELY we contacted her and after a hair-raising drive, defying all California State speed laws in an effort to avoid detaining Mamie unnecessarily we finally greeted her at the downtown San Francisco airline terminal.

By 11:15 we were speeding aloft over the Bay Bridge en route to Concord, at the same time giving Mamie and her mother who was accompanying her a brief outline of the many famous sights they were both seeing for the first time.

Miss Van Doren had unfortunately been forced to do a late night performance at the Biltmore in Los Angeles the night before and she complained of some feeling of strain and confessed that she was not at all up to having to go before a horde of photographers and reporters, etc. until she had time to recover somewhat.

AWAITING HER at the Concord Inn however was a contingent that her wishes could not immediately be granted and exhausted though she was I doubt that few if any were aware of the situation so radiantly did she appear.

Le Roy of Le Roy's hair fashion studios was on hand to attend to those last minute finishing touches to her hair and for quite some time, Mamie readily consorted with the whims and wishes of the various photographers in their efforts at posing her.

Split Over Incorp. In Offing?

What are the benefits of incorporation? It's a question often heard in the central county. "Lower taxes" and "an upgraded business district" have been common replies with respect to the proposed Lafayette strip incorporation proposal.

But, "there are definitely two sides to the question," Stanford White told a general meeting of the Lafayette Chamber of Commerce Wednesday at The Lafayette restaurant.

CITING THE U.C. Institute of Governmental Studies report released last week, White said there are disadvantages to the move.

"It would be a damaging thing as far as welding together the community of Lafayette," he said. If 1000 residents set up a city government, superimposed upon existing government, "confusion would reign supreme," he added.

As for lower taxes, White said dissolution of the M-2 service district would reduce the tax rate by about 80 cents at present, but said this rate will drop to 15 or 20 cents per $100 when the street lighting currently being installed is paid for.

AS FOR PROPERTY owners outside the city boundaries, White said their taxes will not go down, but will probably go up. Money returned to the city from the county—sales and gas taxes, etc.—will mean fewer services for county residents, and the county general fund tax rate will have to be increased, he explained.

"We have a good idea of the aid we can get from the county planning commission and the Board of Supervisors—progress has been made."

A petition against incorporation is being circulated, he noted, and if 51 per cent of residents within the proposed boundaries sign it, incorporation will never go to ballot.

STANLEY PEDDER, chairman of the chamber's incorporation study committee, said only a few property owners have signed the petition for incorporation. Although the work of collecting signatures has been going on for some time, "it is barely moving," he said.

One chamber member cautioned against a city whose council is composed largely of commuters. If the interests of the business community are not represented on the council, it has no voice in government, he said, citing Pleasant Hill as an example.

Letters to The Editor

THAT GOSH DARN TUNNEL

EDITOR:

(Ed. Note: The following is copy of a letter that Mel Nielsen, a member of the county Board of Supervisors, sent this week to Joseph P. Sinclair, district highway engineer for the state, with offices in San Francisco.)

The congestion caused by the widening and construction relative to the Caldecott Tunnel, on the Contra Costa side, has reached unheard-of proportions. The morning commute traffic is backed up to Lafayette, a distance of some five miles from the mouth of the tunnel.

For this reason, I should like to respectfully request that, in order to move the traffic more smoothly, three lanes of the two bores be used west-bound in the morning, and east-bound in the evening. This, coupled with the one-way Bay Bridge, should help considerably.

This will entail the cooperation of the Highway Patrol, Sheriff's office, and the State Division of Highways, I know, and I shall be most happy to avail myself for the purpose of meeting with you at any time.

Three lanes will be a temporary measure, while the bulk of the construction is in progress, but I am sure will speed the traffic flow until some measure can be taken.

Thank you in advance for your attention, and cooperation in this matter. I shall look forward to an early reply.

County's First School TV Programs To Start Feb. 1

Laf. Dist. Will Soon Put Up Studio; Bids Ready

By TERRY HANSEN

A pioneer experiment in the Central County area will get under way in February when the Lafayette School District begins offering closed circuit television instruction to some of its classrooms.

The closed circuit system will be the first for any elementary school system in Northern California.

And there are only two other districts—in Southern California—offering closed circuit instructional television.

At the most recent meeting of the Lafayette Board of Trustees, Superintendent of Schools Francis Ebert disclosed that ground is almost ready to be broken for a studio from which the closed circuit television programs will emanate.

Later he told The Sun, "This 30 by 40-foot building will be only a temporary structure. After a year or two we will draw plans for a more permanent structure."

At the onset of the Lafayette ITV program some 1,600 children in the 6th, 7th and 8th grades will receive instruction in Spanish.

"The whole emphasis is to offer Spanish and to offer it appropriately," Dr. Ebert said.

Eventually Lafayette's school officials plan to use ITV for not only Spanish but science, music and social studies, including history, geography and mathematics.

Trial telecasts will be offered in these subjects during this school year, Dr. Ebert told The Sun, as a prelude to putting the programs on a regular basis next year.

"We ultimately expect to teach foreign language every day to all of our 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th graders," the superintendent said.

Asked why the Lafayette district is a pioneer for ITV in Northern California, Dr. Ebert explained, "The use of television for school instruction is a new idea. Enough school authorities have not had the opportunity to study it."

The superintendent said that the Lafayette School District is financially able to offer ITV because it is not now beset by building programs. The district has leveled off to about 4,700 students with no great influx foreseeable in the near future.

THE INITIAL cost of the program in Lafayette will be approximately $85,000.

"If we were to offer a foreign language program to most of our youngsters we'd have to hire a total of 11 teachers at a cost of $77,000 a year," Dr. Ebert said.

"Our cost for doing the same thing with ITV will be about $54,000."

Two members of the school district staff, Neal Christiansen and Mrs. Loris Woolf, have been devoting about 90 per cent of their time working on the forthcoming project.

Dr. Ebert told The Sun the local school district will hire a television technician when he is found. His main task will be to take care of the studio and keep the equipment in proper shape.

BID advertising for TV monitoring sets, studio equipment and installation of wiring to the schools will take place in the next 30 days, Dr. Ebert said.

"Our main problem right now," he concluded, "is to just hope that the weather holds up so that our first studio can be constructed."

Bldg. Fund Program Is Okay

The county's system of obtaining funds from the Employees' Retirement Association has been consistently legal and upheld by the courts, County Administrator J. P. McBrien said yesterday.

His statement was in answer to allegations made last week by supervisorial candidate John C. Longaker that huge sums of money could be saved in regard to the county's building program if the money had been obtained from private leasing agencies.

THE COUNTY pays a five per cent interest rate when money is borrowed from the retirement group. Longaker declared a private leasing agency would have furnished the money at a four per cent rate.

McBrien said: "We once considered a private firm when we sought funds for the Pleasant Hill Library and office building. But when we broke the construction and financing costs down, we found that we could save substantially by getting the money from the retirement board."

"A person can quote interest rates but there are many, many other factors that must be considered. If just the interest rate is quoted, that doesn't mean anything."

WEEKEND WEATHER FORECAST

Mild temperatures, in the mid-seventies, are expected to continue through the weekend in the central county, the weatherman reports.

Continued fair skies, with patches of morning fog at times, but not a sign of rain.

Fight Looms On Transit

A Bay Area Rapid Transit station at the intersection of Highway 24 and Pleasant Hill Road, Lafayette, would become one of the most important collector stations of the network, with patrons from at least five central Contra Costa communities using it.

This statement has come from George McDonald, transit district information officer, who also stated, the Pleasant Hill Road location is part of the official routing plan approved by the district board of directors prior to the bond election last November.

EXACT PLACEMENT of the station and parking facility must await final design of the freeway interchange planned for the area by the Division of Highways, he added.

McDonald's statements were made by letter to the Lafayette Chamber of Commerce rapid transit committee, headed by insurance broker Jack Pedder.

The Lafayette chamber requested information on the final location of the Lafayette station, and has expressed its interest in a more centrally located station.

PEDDER GAVE the transit district's report at a meeting Wednesday of the Chamber of Commerce, held at The Lafayette restaurant. Chamber member Stanford White told members the transit district is taking soil tests at the Pleasant Hill interchange and said there was no question in his mind that it would be the location.

It is necessary to evoke public interest in the final station location and to "do it in a hurry," he said, and suggested the chamber of commerce send a delegation to appear at the next transit district board of directors' meeting.

Lafayette Chamber President C. L. Odgaard directed the transit committee to send delegates to the meeting and to invite delegates of the Contra Costa Commuters' Association to join them.

MCDONALD'S LETTER said during final design the district intends to give full consideration to a Lafayette station "perhaps more centrally located."

But he added, such a site should offer the following characteristics: the rapid transit line and loading platforms should be on the north side of the freeway; there must be parking on at least one and preferably both sides of the freeway; the parking area should be at least 10 acres; station loading areas should be accessible from both sides of the freeway; the station and its approaches should not interfere with local desires for additional freeway interchanges; and the site should require minimum acquisition of developed properties.

SO FAR, HE SAID, the district has not been able to locate a site meeting all of these qualifications. Further, the Contra Costa planning commission would have to approve any proposed alteration in the routing as it now exists.

Gov. Brown Nominates New Judge

Governor Edmund G. Brown today nominated Judge Wakefield Taylor of Contra Costa Superior Court to be elevated to the District Court of Appeal for the first appellate district, division two.

He will succeed Justice Daniel R. Shoemaker who was elevated to presiding justice of the same court.

The governor's action must be passed on by the Commission on Judicial Appointments.

A NATIVE OF Ukiah, Taylor, 48, was graduated from the University of California and took his law degree at Boalt Hall of Law.

At the University of California he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, student body president, commencement speaker and a member of the editorial staff of the California Law Review.

He was Charles Galley fellow to Boalt Hall.

Civil Service Status Meet For Firemen Slated

A meeting will be held Nov. 15 to determine if some 200 firemen employed by five county fire protection districts should be given civil service status.

The session will be staged by the County Fire Commissioners Association.

Firemen have charged that without civil service status they do not have job security and salary negotiations must be conducted before five separate commissions.

The firemen represent the Orinda, San Pablo, El Sobrante, Mt. Diablo and East Contra Costa districts.

Bulletin!

After an exhaustive, heated debate yesterday, the county Board of Supervisors agreed to hold a study session at 9 a.m. Nov. 20 on the proposed re-districting of the five districts.

The structure of the county's municipal and justice court system will also be reviewed at that time.

Chairman James Kenny was the lone dissenter, calling the move a "stall" and "clouding the issue."

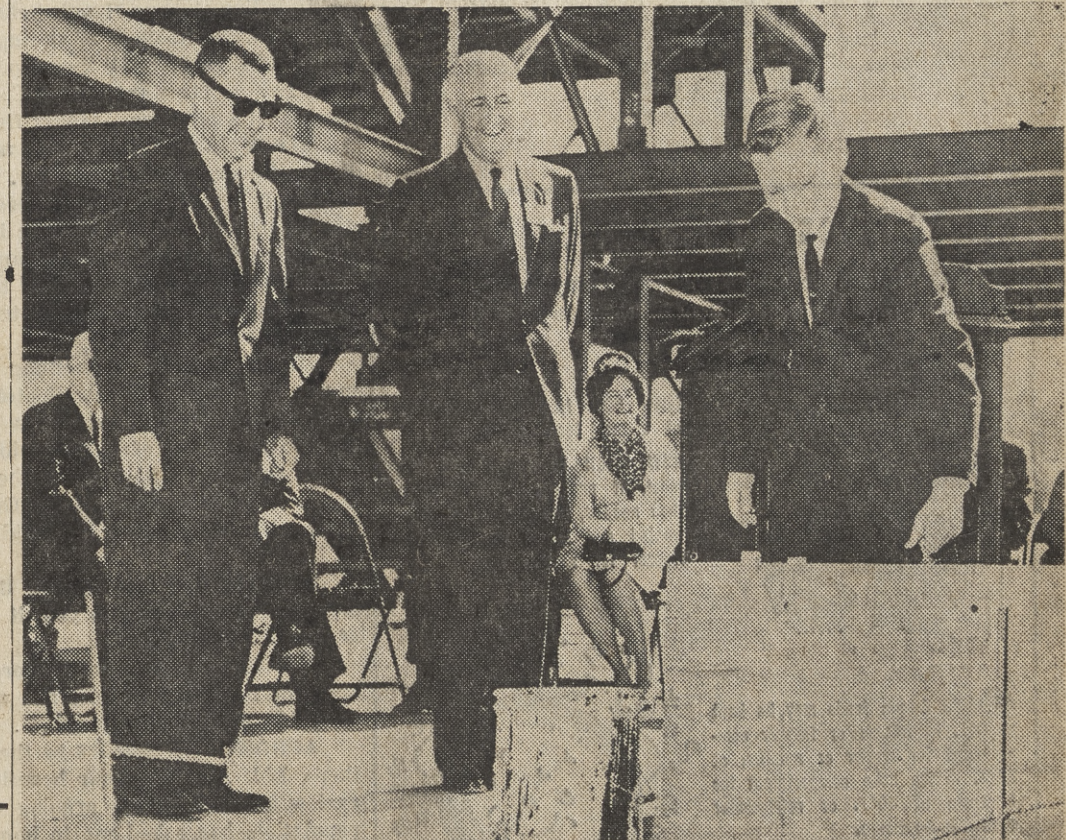

Earlier, Supervisor Thomas J. Coll asked the board to review all re-districting plans on Oct. 29. He and Kenny were outvoted, as usual, by Supervisor Mel Nielsen, El Linscheid and Joe Silva.

The Superior Court has issued a writ of mandate ordering the supervisors to redistrict their areas. The supervisors, yesterday made no decision about the appeal.

Strike Against Housing Group Set For Nov.

Members of the Contra Costa County and Municipal Employees Association, Local 1675, who work for the Contra Costa Housing Authority, voted unanimously to strike against the authority on Nov. 8.

HENRY L. CLARKE, business manager for Local 1675, said the housing authority board of commissioners had unilaterally rescinded a legally signed and binding contract with Local 1675, and that the commissioners had taken this action at a specially called meeting without any prior notification to the union or to the public.

Sunny Fall Day Favors Laying Of Cornerstone

The cornerstone of the John Muir Memorial Hospital was laid Sunday. It was the occasion of sunny skies, commemorative oratory and the festive gathering of approximately 400 people.

The cornerstone was laid with a "golden" trowel by one of John Muir's great grandsons, Mike Hanna, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Hanna of Dixon, Alfred Layton, chairman of the hospital board of trustees, who acted as master of ceremonies for the event, afterwards made

Mike a present of the historic trowel.

OTHER OF John Muir's descendants attended the ceremony honoring their famous pioneer ancestor. They were Muir's grandsons, Strent Hanna of Alhambra Valley and John Hanna of Nappa Valley. They were accompanied by a group of special guests, which included the well known Contra Costa pioneer John Swett.

MAYOR NEWELL CASE of Walnut Creek was the principal speaker. He emphasized that, economically, the John Muir Hospital means adding a $2 million payroll to the area, in addition to about 300 new families, thereby creating new jobs and housing needs. He hailed the hospital as the biggest industry to be welcomed into the Walnut Creek area.

Special guest was Janet Kammerer, who, in 1959, when she was only 11 years old, won the area-wide contest to give the new hospital its name. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Kammerer of Pleasant Hill.

MORE TO STORE?

Here's Hidden Space Galore

As housing costs continue to rise, every square foot of space in your home becomes more valuable, including precious storage space. This airtight unit is ideal for keeping out-of-season items and extra linen closet supplies in often-overlooked storage space under the bed.

New, Creamy Potato Salad Has Spicy Flavor With Fresh Garden Vegetables

Today's decorative serve-yourself salad tray is appetizing and also nourishing because you start with a delicious, creamy potato salad, superbly flavored in the Continental manner. Borrowing from the famous French chefs, the potato salad is prepared in advance, then refrigerated so the flavors blend well and, when you're ready to serve, simply arrange the crisp garden vegetables. You'll find the newly harvested Russet potatoes from Washington State plentiful now and this variety is recommended for extra flavor and finer texture. Washington growers say their mineral-rich lava soil lends these all-purpose Russets extra flavor and nutritive values, making them a "must" in all your favorite potato dishes, that you want "just so."

CREAMY POTATO SALAD AND GARDEN VEGETABLE TRAY
6 large Washington State Russet potatoes
3 hard-cooked eggs
6 green onions
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 tsp. salt
2 tbsps. vinegar
1 tbsps. flour
2 tbsps. water
1/2 tsp. powdered mustard
1 egg, beaten
1 tbsps. butter or margarine
1 cup whipping cream
1/2 cup mayonnaise

Cook potatoes in jackets until tender, 20 to 30 mins. Meanwhile make dressing. Combine sugar, salt, vinegar, flour, water, mustard and beaten egg. Cook over low heat until creamy and thick, stirring frequently. Add butter, whipping cream (not whipped) and mayonnaise. Blend well and cool. Remove skins from potatoes. Slice potatoes and eggs into large bowl. Cut onions into small pieces including tops. Add to potatoes. Carefully fold in dressing. Allow salad to stand in refrigerator at least 5 hours to blend flavors. Garnish as desired. Serves 6 to 8.

Golden Rules For Frozen Foods Care

The rules are few and simple, but they do protect the gold mine of nutrients and wealth of good eating qualities for which frozen foods are famous.

LOOK FOR: Neat packages, free of stains, tears or dents.
NOW MUCH TO BUY: Read the label. If package contains more than needed, use just the amount wanted and return remainder to freezer for another meal.

STORAGE: Frozen foods may be kept at 0°F. in freezer or freezer compartment for weeks or months; at 32°F. in ice cube compartment for 1 week; at 40°F. or refrigerator shelf for 24 hours.

IN THE FREEZER: Remember to place recent frozen food purchases toward back or bottom, rotating the items to use first the foods which have been stored longest.

REFREEZING: If frozen foods should accidentally defrost, they may be refrozen without appreciable change in quality if the package contents are still cold to touch—at least 40°F. the temperature inside a refrigerator.

A Hatful of Rain...

TUESDAY'S rain was the right kind of rain; the kind that's a comfortable change from the sunny-blue sky routine. It fell, for the most part, w/a gentle patter on our copper roof & subsided in a similar manner, leaving the world outside shiny and clean with a new lease on life after the late summer doldrums.

Maybe it's because my heart's still in the Highlands (Highlands Inn, that is) but the fog that followed late today (Tues.) was much like the mists on the moor of that bonnie land.

IT WAS GOOD to get away last wknd. & the trip we took was a prize, literally. We had won it at the Legal Aid Society's Christmas Cargoes Preview last Dec. but because of the busy holiday time, had cubbyholed it. Spring was busy, summer more so & it wasn't until we were cleaning out the desk we came across it recently, doubly delighted at the prospect of taking our "prize" trip in the fall, our favorite time of year anyway.

EVEN the start of heavy rain last Thursday didn't perturb & by the time our wknd. was underway, it couldn't have been less perfect, weather included.

THE TWO new friends we made were our host & hostess; Robert Ramsey, owner of Highland Inn, and his charming wife Pat, an attractive blonde Portia who is a good friend of another topnotch legal lady, Gladys (Burke) Witkin, formerly of Orinda. The Witkins had preceded us by a wknd. & had also been entertained by the Ramseys in their spectacular apartment that sits high, white & handsome over the sparkling Pacific. Pat possesses a marvelous singing voice and we had a grand time around the white grand piano which host Ramsey played w/a flourish—the old tunes & some new ones, too.

SUNDAY BRUNCH at Highlands the Inn we discussed California's growth problem w/the Ramseys who have a few of their own in that area what w/the Monterey Freeway, etc. So it seemed such a coincidence on leaving the dining room that we should run into Joe & Betty Zablocki of Orinda who were just arriving w/friends, & like us, had been having a hot conversation on the same cold subject of poor planning.

AND WHEN it comes to good planning, here's the place for a Hats Off to Dr. Wayne Caygill, owner of the village property next to Lucky's & fronting the proposed BofAmerica bldg. Caygill enlisted the talents of Lawrence Halprin & now the new plans for the arcade of shops slated for next spring preserve most all of the lovely oak trees in the area, w/bldgs in a tree-house effect.

For the benefit of newcomers & people who holler "Hasn't Orinda ever had a plan?", we are gathering together material for a future column similar to the ones on the 1938 telephone people over the years of planning, please call me. As for THAT book. If anyone has any interesting commentary re: plans of question, "Yes, Virginia, there IS a plan" & ever was. Several of 'em, in fact.

& You in the Main...

OUR FUNNY for the week is the fish story from Barbara Lincoln who told of the absolutely overbearing fisherman who camped next to the Lincolns at Big Basin this summer. You know the kind; just too much braggart, etc. . . . Mid-vacation, Bill Lincoln was called off on flight duty w/PanAm to Alaska, only to return again in a few days w/a giant fresh salmon which he casually strung up in the trees in full view of his fisher-neighbor who hadn't even been aware of Bill's brief absence. The giggling & guffawing you hear still are the Lincolns, all 12 of 'em, having a hearty over Bill's big catch. Which he bought not caught, at the Alaskan fish market more for fun than in self-defense.

MOTHERS-of-the-Week trophies to Marge Cole, Mary Furtado & Mary Smith, all seen carrying a case of family-size veg. soup out of Lucky's in preparation for a "cook-out" in Tilden Park, w/34 Sleepy Hollow Girl Scouts. . . . We'll bet it wasn't the scouts who were sleepy the next morning. . . . Wasn't that the day & night of the hard rain?

PRETTIEST Orindian of the week: The dainty darling baby daughter called Kirsten being cuddled in her cart while mama Angelina Larsen pursued her grocery rounds. . . . Kirsten, at 3-mos., is already a heart-melter.

CARYL DE FARIA, former president of Orinda Nursery School, was one of the winners of Sausalito Little Theater's third annual Original Drama Workshop awards w/her one-act play "Majorcan Games". The winning plays, selected from over 300 entries, will be presented at the theater in January.

BARGAIN HUNTERS, attn: The Junior League of Oakland launch their newest venture, a Thrift Shop in Oakland, after the first of the year. . . .

Remember how everyone saved grease during the war? The young ladies at Anna Head's School have used their pretty heads & by the same methods of storing up that bacon fat in containers have sold some to swell the school's bldg. fund by some $200 plus dollars. . . . Their traditional Country Fare this Saturday benefits the AFS program, another fine cause.

KITTY'S CORNER: A nice note from Kitty Dykstra, Peanut Butter Lover, who writes: ". . . don't cry, there still is real Peanut Butter if you know where to find it. At the 'Food Mill' out McArthur Blvd. They make it right there & we've seen people taking it out in 1/2 gallon jars. Delicious.

Kitty also saw old-fashioned homemade P.B. at the Farmer's Mkt., Hillsdale shopping center w/the sign "We make it here" . . .

Mixed Up Notes: Something else new in Oakland, my own, my native town: The new Boatel & Motel royally christened at Jack London Square last wk. w/30 of the town's VP's on hand for the driving-in of a gold piling. . . . The Orinda Country Club's next BIG BIG event is the Orinda "Foolies" set for Nov. 2. . . . & ladies of Santa Maria Guild get their annual Christmas dinner dance in early on the holiday calendar this yr.—November 30.

IF THAT tall nice looking Bob DeHart at Lucky's Village, looks vaguely familiar to you, it could be because he's a cousin of star Gardner McKay.

A BOY, A GIRL, what more? The penultimate in parenthood for Dick & Albe Kostyrka who welcomed a second child & daughter, Mary Beth Sept. 29. . . .

ACROSS THE MILES to the Miles' in Greenwich: Hellooo there, Lid. . . . For your benefit, Anna Jane Detling, recently east w/husband Ken & arguing w/you the point of our current population, has asked me to hunt up the facts. As close as we can come via Bee Betz' office & the post office count, the Orinda School district populus is now in the neighborhood of between 16,000 & 17,000. Come back & add to it.

THE ARTIST whose work is on exhibit at Orinda Libe is Jade FON (corrected) & the paintings, watercolor, not oil are worth a viewing.

FRIENDS of the Library set up shop in the village last Thursday & there were all sort of wonderful buys. . . . EVERYthing! Incl. some fine technical books that went for a song. . . . Betty Smith, Helen Stark counting money; Muir Sorrick assisting browsers. . . . & a late afternoon report that over 2/3 of the books donated were sold. The librarian had first choice of what was left over. It was fun & different & worth a repeat annually! Millie McKay & Marge Janolis, co-chairman of Maytem's SKI SWAP at Laf. Town Hall, out bright & early yesterday for the all-day buy & sell benefit for Children's Hospital.

TODAY & tomorrow, Candle Carnival at Orinda Masonic Hall, by Tanquer Unit of Mt. Diablo Therapy Center. Shop for the holidays Fri. from 10-1. Sat. from 10-3. . . .

MOPS ROEGERS, departing for distant places, including Mexico & England, w/a reminder that Mary Grah will chrm. this year's UNICEF fund drive. Kids can turn their trick into treats for less fortunate ones by helping to fill the little carton available at the library, firehouses & most of our churches.

Tots' School Tells New Officers

Everyone connected with the Orinda Nursery School works. Once a month they work with the teachers at the school, and during the school year they participate in activities necessary to the schools' existence. Every year a group of mothers takes on added responsibilities encompassing such fields as maintenance, purchasing and orientation.

FOR THE year 1963-64, the following women have assumed positions on the board: President, Mrs. Thomas Fitch; vice president, Mrs. Pat Cole; treasurer, Mrs. Edwin Flinn and Mrs. Fred Cummings; publicity and newsletter, Mrs. Middleton O'Brien.

Also serving on the board are Mesdames Thomas Curtis, Donald Dierkes, John Risbrough, Herbert Sihner, Richard Frost, John Creech, William Patterson, Paul Fanning, Robert Lee, Gordon Ragan, Glenn Heltnie, William Barnum, Ted Rimer, Bruce Geernaert, James Gaynor and Walter DeFaria.

AS OVER the past 22 years, Mrs. Myrtle Patterson, the director, remains the guiding light and mainstay of the school. She is assisted by Mrs. R. H. Laney and Mr. H. E. Harris, both of whom have been teaching Orinda Nursery School children for many years.

Not only the mothers give their time to the school. Also contributing time and energy is the men's financial committee. This committee stands in an advisory capacity and is made up of fathers (some of whose children have been out of nursery school for years) who represent different professions and aspects of business. These men are Carl Strang, Julian Unruh, Blake Calder, Clem Ford, Robert Klemmenson, Fred Cummings and Edwin Flinn.

Hats Off To...

Neva And Wendy Camp, AFS Drive Co-chairmen

THANK YOU in any language, to Mrs. Harry (Neva) Camp and her daughter Wendy who are co-chairmen for the forthcoming American Field Service fund drive.

Mother is the treasurer of the adult sponsors' group of AFS while her daughter is treasurer of the Miramonte High School student AFS Club.

AND BOTH are busy as beavers at the moment readying for the fund drive which takes place the weekend of Oct. 26 and 27. This weekend, according to the mother-daughter team, the AFS members will distribute informative pamphlets that tell the story of AFS and the distribution of the funds raised. "The monies are used to benefit both the AFS students who come to Orinda from abroad as well as our own who go to other countries," enthuses Mrs. Camp.

As for her daughter, Mrs. Camp says, "She's the busiest thing I've ever seen in my life. Why, I can scarcely keep up with her many activities." For one, Wendy is Meet Manager of the Miramonte Timers who coordinate a myriad of details for the football games, etc.

THE YOUNG lady has her eye on a counseling career, swims well, summered in Hawaii with her mom, and is a music lover participating in the church choir at Orinda-Lafayette Presbyterian Church, as well as being a member of the high school's A Capella. Mainly she "likes people," and this keeps her on a constant kind of merry-go-round.

The family of Harry Camp, assistant director of Southwestern Forest and Range Experiment Station in Berkeley, moved here from Washington just a year ago and includes married son Gordon. It was a homecoming for Neva, who is a U.C. graduate after sixteen years.

IT DIDN'T take long for the Camps to feel their welcome here and now mother and daughter, in turn, are helping to welcome others via the AFS program. M.M.

The Megaphone Comes Home To Owner's Heir

George Driscoll of 1 Donna Maria Way, has been presented with a speaking trumpet that once belonged to his great-grandfather, John Scott, Oakland's first fire chief.

Driscoll is now a member of that same fire department and his son, William Driscoll, serves with the Lafayette Fire Department.

The silver and gold megaphone was presented to Driscoll's fireman ancestor in 1869 on the occasion of the Oakland Fire Department's first annual ball. It was Chief Scott who donated the money to buy the department's first fire engine.

Driscoll says that some day he will give the megaphone back to the City of Oakland.

WHAT'S DOING

Howard Greenhalgh, your Telephone Manager in Orinda

Pacific Telephone employees in this area have contributed approximately $3000, so far, during the United Bay Area Crusade campaign. The campaign is about 70% completed. Many of our people have contributed 1 hour's pay each month in lieu of working with the various agencies UBAC handles. Some of them have given as much as 1% of their annual gross wage. Some have given cash contributions, others monthly payroll deductions. Most important is the fact that these donations will go to help 183 organizations in our area.

This was once one of our company trucks. And, as some may recall, a few things about this kind of truck made driving an experience. (For instance, the top speed was barely more than twenty miles per hour.) But, despite all shortcomings, driving in those days was relatively safe because of low speeds and the lack of traffic. With today's high speeds and crowded streets and highways, however, safety is a bigger problem. That's why all telephone drivers attend "Defensive Driving" schools, learning to stop accidents, before they happen.

Calling someone whose number you're not quite sure of? Why not double-check it and jot it down before you dial? Could well save you from making a dialing mistake and save the person answering from unnecessary inconvenience.

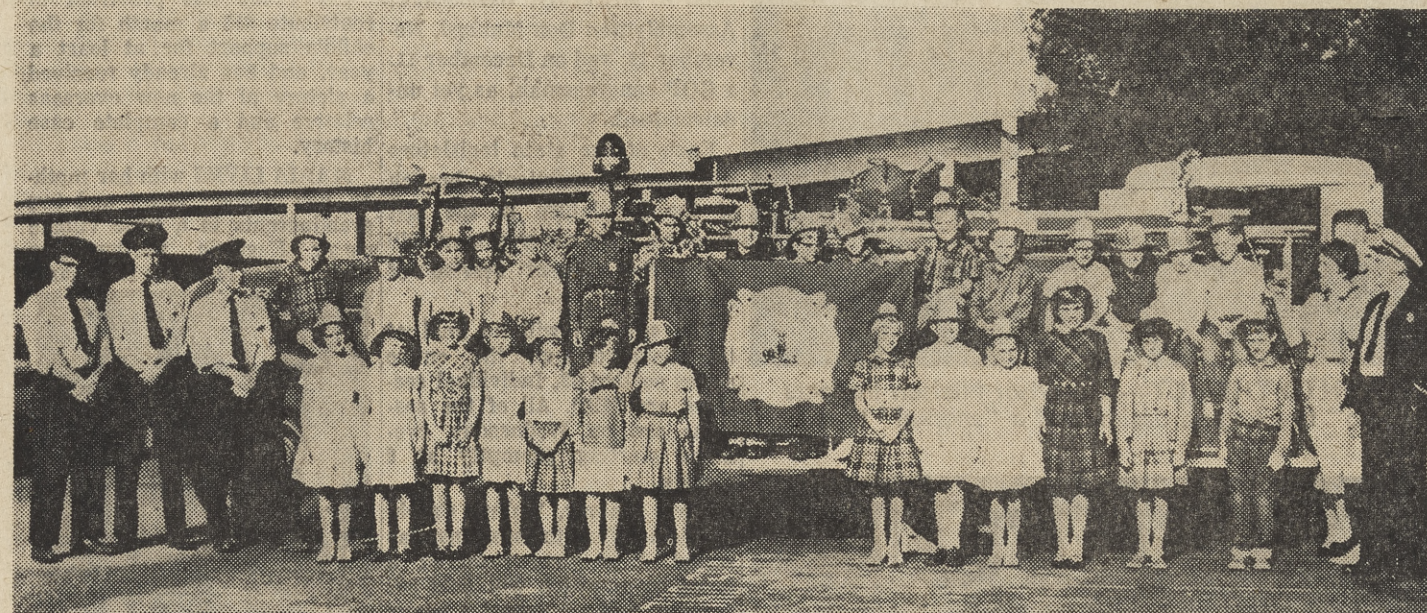

One item that many people find useful is the Bell Chime. Here a service representative shows a customer how to set it for a pleasant chime, a loud bell or the familiar telephone ring. WORK TO START—Bank of America's new Orinda branch, shown in artist's sketch above, represents an architectural technique different from any the bank has used on previous branches.

New Plans For Bank

Construction is expected to begin in November on the Bank of America's new Orinda branch on Orinda Way, 500 feet South of Camino Sobrante, near the post office.

The structure will be set well forward, according to A.B. Gilman, vice-president for branch operations, and will achieve a modern rustic mood through use of exposed redwood beams, both building would have set a blank cisco architects.

NATURAL light from aluminum-framed bronze glass windows will be ample; decorative concrete columns will support the portico overhead, and exterior walls will be of stucco. Completion of the work is expected in the spring.

Original plans for the bank building would have set a blank cisco architects.

By setting the building forward, the new plans create a small plaza between the bank and post office. Materials were planned to take advantage of the natural beauty of the wooded site. Plans were drawn under the supervision of Wurster, Bernhardt and Emmons, San Francisco architects.

CAC To Name Candidates

Candidates for six directorships of the Orinda Association will be nominated at a meeting Monday at 8 p.m. of the association's Civic Affairs Committee.

CAC Chairman Charles Legge said the meeting, to be held at the Orinda School, will be one of the most important of the year. The committee is responsible for nominating two candidates from each of the nine districts of the Orinda Association.

DIRECTORS whose terms are expiring Dec. 31 are: Harry Fledderman, president; Jack Cutter, A. L. Petersen, James Keating, Bruce Hoff and William Brobeck. Directors continuing are Walter Treanor, James Halloran and James Lucas. Terms are for two years.

The committee will obtain recommendations on eligible candidates within the districts of the retiring directors, and the candidates will be present at Monday's meeting. Additional nominations will be accepted from the floor.

"THE BOARD of directors of the association is the only organization which functions for all of Orinda," Legge said. "The election of interested and qualified persons is extremely important. We therefore urge all interested Orindans to be present at the meeting to nominate and meet the candidates."

William Fleager, president of the Orinda Library Board, will also attend the meeting to present the library's plans for future expansion.

More Teachers, Lighter Loads

Additional teaching staff and help with preparation of ditto-papers can solve the problem of overloaded classes and teachers in Orinda schools, the district board of trustees was told Monday night at an adjourned meeting at Pine Grove School.

Superintendent Joseph Sheaff explained hiring a music teacher and a remedial reading teacher to take over 15 large classes once or twice a week could free the classroom teacher to prepare her work and allow time for conferences with parents and for more individual attention to students who need it.

THIS COULD relieve the problem without going into such solutions as mobile classrooms, conversion of libraries to classrooms, hiring more teachers and moving students into new classes.

With this aid, Sheaff said he does not feel the students would suffer any setbacks educationally because of large class size. The superintendent said he had begun diverting such mechanical work as duplicating papers to other personnel.

Trustee Mrs. Ruth Gilwee said the teachers concerned in the 15 crowded classes do not want anyone to take over major areas in their rooms.

A disadvantage to teachers of crowded classes, Sheaff pointed out, is that many things have been loaded onto the curriculum, such as foreign language teaching, and teachers have to spend time in in-service training.

THE DISADVANTAGE to children is that the teacher cannot spend as much time with them. Trustee Richard Bartle asked whether the time saved twice a week would be used to give individual attention to students.

Sheaff said it would be so used. He remarked a teacher will do what she has to do, regardless of class loads, but additional staff would allow her to spend more time with the children. Board President J. Gordon

Ainsworth, directed trustees Mrs. Gretchen Howe and Mrs. Gilwee to meet with Sheaff and the concerned teachers as to definite needs in personnel. They will report at Monday night's regular meeting when the board will take action.

WITH RESPECT to the building program, the board requested up-to-date statistics on enrollment projections, year by year, along with estimated costs of building an entire new school and additions to existing schools.

Sheaff said a new school at the Wagner Ranch site could be started by July of 1964 and completed by September, 1965. About 220 days are required to build an additional classroom to an existing school.

To meet the space need by next September, Ainsworth said mobile units might be used temporarily, and moved to various school sites as needed. Tentative building plans call for one complete new school and for additions at three schools.

AFS Student Back Home

American Field Service exchange student from Cremona, Italy, who attended Miramonte High School last year, has written the following letter to her American parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Nichols, 18 Don Gabriel Way, Orinda. She requested that it be printed in The Sun.

Dear Friends,
It's already two months that I am in Italy, after the marvelous bus trip through the U.S. and the stop at the White House where I got to shake hands with President Kennedy. He delivered a pleasant and good speech remarking the importance of the A.F.S. program for maintaining peace in the world. Later on the news I found out that it was reported that "The A.F.S. students mobbed President Kennedy." I know, we were a little rough, but let's not exaggerate!

LET ME first tell you that after already two months back home, I honestly don't feel fully adjusted to the Italian way of living. You should come and see my room: It looks like a tourist agency advertising for the U.S., posters, maps, souvenirs, photographs, all about the U.S. and Orinda are keeping me in an American mood.

I cannot help but very often think like an American and look forward to the day I'll be back "home" in Orinda. I will always remember "my" school for the friendship and affection I found in it. I felt everybody, from the principal to the last student, my friend. I have always found a smile for each time I was sad and I always found a hand for each time I needed help.

I WOULD like to express all my gratitude to my American family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nichols and Roberta, for their generous hospitality and affection towards me. I thank all Orinda clubs, the A.F.S. chapter, my teachers and all the persons who helped me in making my stay possible and pleasant.

If Orinda and Miramonte High School have had positive experience with the exchange student program, each student and person may be proud of it and say he has taken part.

YOU HAVE in fact built a bridge, an ideal bridge, between a little and unknown Italian town and Orinda, where I left the best part of my life. My American experience is giving me also the possibility to give some examinations which allow me to attend a special college for Parliamentary Interpreters. This has been always a dream for me, but now it's coming true: In few days I'll start my examinations and I only hope to pass them!

I wish to the three new foreign exchange students in Orinda a year as wonderful as I had. Thank you again for your hospitality. My warmest "ciao" to everyone from Both Co-op Centers at Geary Road and South Main are holding a foreign cake and cookie baking contest.

All entries should be taken to either center no later than noon, Wednesday.

Winners will be notified either Wednesday or Thursday.

Supervisors Get Going!

In view of current developments on county redistricting, particularly in reference to the attitude of certain supervisors that are fighting it, Councilman Francis Driscoll Wednesday night moved that the Walnut Creek City Council officially "rememorialize" the Board of Supervisors, urging immediate action.

In presenting his motion, Driscoll labeled the delaying actions as "legislative tyranny in action, undemocratic and un-American."

His motion carried unanimously.

Nine High School Students Win Orchestra Honor

Nine music students in the Acalanes Union High School District have earned "chairs" in the Northern California Honor Orchestra. The students from Acalanes, Las Lomas, and Miramonte High Schools were selected in competitive auditions. More than 200 Bay Area qualified high school student musicians competed for the 80 "chairs" in the honor orchestra.

The orchestra is part of an area-wide "music for the gifted" activity sponsored by Bay Area high school music teachers. It holds weekly Saturday rehearsals in preparation for its first concert December 15. Television and concert performances are being scheduled for later in the school year under honor orchestra conductors Dr. George Kyme of the University of California and Gerhard Samuel of the Oakland Symphony.

Acalanes District students who have earned permanent orchestra membership include: Acalanes High—Craig Johnston, percussion; Beatrice Anderson, violin; Rosalie Rued, violin; Melody Ferreira, violin; Bruce Neighbor, violinello. Las Lomas High—Sally McLaine, bassoon; Bob Ose, trombone; Miramonte High—Claudia Craig, violin; and Dan Williams, trombone.

Taylor Named

Superior Judge Wakefield Taylor was named to the First District Court of Appeals Wednesday by Governor Pat Brown, he learned in a telephone call from the governor.

Judge Taylor served as chief deputy district attorney of Contra Costa County from 1949 to 1951, when he was named to the Superior Court bench by former Governor Earl Warren.

Vets Reselling GI Homes Not Liable, Says VA

Contra Costa County Service Officer William R. Smaker today said that former holders of Cal-Vet contracts are not liable for delinquencies on the part of purchasers to whom their home has been sold. They are automatically released from such liability when they sell their home.

"However," said Smaker, "a veteran selling a home bought through a 'GI loan' would do well to notify the VA and apply for release of their personal liability."

Smaker pointed out that there was an increasing number of cases in which veterans, transferring to California from out of state, have sold their GI financed homes without bothering to get clearance, only to find a later buyer has failed to meet the obligations.

"Under the law," Smaker pointed out, "the veteran is liable for debts on the property unless specifically cleared with the VA."

Chamber Names Directorships

The Orinda Chamber of Commerce heard Ward Cockerton, teacher of fire training at Diablo Valley College, speak at its monthly meeting yesterday at the Casa Orinda. Fire Chief Al Winsor, a chamber director, was program chairman.

Secretary Clarence Betz gave a progress report on the de Laveaga Memorial and past president Ed Amatore and James R. Lucas reported regarding a bus shelter at the new bus turnout.

The chamber expects to have the new business and professional director in the mail later this month, Betz said.

AAUW Group Hosts Students

In a unique program of friendship, members of the Walnut Creek branch of the American Association of University of Women recently opened their homes to students from foreign lands who are enrolled at Diablo Valley College.

Each of three AAUW members' homes were utilized to entertain students at dinner, with over members and their husbands serving as co-hosts and hostesses.

Twelve students from Peru, Japan, Kenya, Singapore, Canada, Holland, the Philippine Islands, and Ireland attended dinner parties in the Walnut Creek homes of Mrs. Edmund Regalia, Mrs. Fred Whelan, and Mrs. R. L. Grunder.

Details of the program were arranged by Mrs. Robert Wilcox, Mrs. Jack Denton, and the three hostesses. Other AAUW members and their husbands who attended various of the parties included Mr. and Mrs. George W. Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Bozak, Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fish, Dr. and Mrs. Edward Kotok, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Denton, and Dr. and Mrs. Robert B. Shank.

Mrs. Shank is president of the Walnut Creek chapter.

A Captive Audience...

THE MAN behind the big wonderful voice on radio is a real hit with his own live "home audience"; he loves to "ham it up" and they in turn dish the applause and laughter right back at him.

WALT JAMOND, well-known to radio listeners as news director of KPAT, has a tremendous background in the field of communications, speech, drama and music.

WHEN HE'S not behind the mike at the Berkeley station, he's directing programs for Altamont Sound, a taping service that sells shows to radio, mainly FM, across the nation.

AS A city boy in Manhattan, he took to the airways as high school reporter for WNCB in New York and also wrote, directed and acted with station WNYC. He had the distinction, at that youthful age, of having appeared in two Broadway shows that folded after two nights; undismayed, he went on to a career of memorizing lines and editing script, theatrical, radio and otherwise.

TALL, HANDSOME, a man of football player proportions, Jamond has been leading a double life during this holiday season for the past years and it may catch up with him yet; for KRON's Christmastime shows, he gets bewildered and costumed to portray Santa Claus. And as the Jamond children, Michael and Suzanne, grow older, they sometimes comment to mother Noma, "Gee, Santa's voice sounds just like Daddy's," when father puts in a red-suited and black-booted appearance on Mayor Art's holiday show.

"How long can we keep this a secret?" Noma confides, adding that she may have to take son Michael aside one of these days and let him in on the big secret.

Jamond's voice has been heard over KRON and KABL over past years and he also narrates industrial films.

HE WORKED with the speech-handicapped children in Brooklyn following graduation from N.Y.U. where he earned his bachelor of science degree majoring in education, English and speech. Post-graduate studies were accomplished at S.F. State College and at the San Francisco Conservatory of Music.

Both Jamonds are creative individuals. Noma was raised in Salt Lake, schooled at the University of Utah, skipped through the Wolfe School of Dress Design and was on her first job in the field of fashion when Walt whisked her off to a wedding (her own). The Orinda Woman's Club claims her as an active member.

AT THE Jamonds' Bel Air Drive home, where they've lived for seven years, a single wall is lined with a mammoth record collection. But the policy in their house is keeping the needle OFF; Walt hears it all day, seven days a week, at KPAT between his newtime microphone stints.

Now that we've exposed Mayor Art's Christmas colleague, the kids will have to make room for us as we watch (soon enough) for a jolly ho-ho from you know who. But don't tell... M.M.

Ooohh--Lookit The New Tiny Toy

BLAST OFF—Chief Al Winsor of the Orinda Fire Department puts the new fire engine through its paces.

RIDING HIGH—Although this model is the smallest of the species, 50 feet high is plenty high.

GETTING INTO THE ACT—Supervisor Nielsen inspects the "demo" fire engine designated a "snorkel" type.

The Fire Monster

By JOHN TEALE

Although not exactly contemplating taking the "big plunge" now or in the near future, Orinda Fire Department Chief Al Winsor believes in keeping ahead of the times as far as technical information goes.

Last week Al in company with County Supervisor Mel Nielsen were the envious inspectors of what they would like to possess in the way of fire engines.

THE MODEL, a "snorkel" type fire engine, was brought in to Orinda for tryouts. Chief Winsor really put it through its paces and although it would be a welcome addition to the department, Al told me that present building styles to be found in and around the fire district, did not at this time warrant such an expenditure.

In other words, Orinda district buildings are not yet of such a height as to be incapable of being tackled, in the case of such a contingency, by present equipment now at the station.

The model being demonstrated—although in the eyes of most onlookers a monster—was actually the smallest model the company makes. Fully extended, the hose carrying platform reaches a height of 50 feet. Others I was told reach as high as a hundred or more feet.

Sent on the assignment, I was expecting to see something at least a little bit reminiscent of submarines (a snorkel is a type of underwater escape or safety apparatus used by submarines and it may also be used to permit submarines to operate their diesel engines while submerged.) Some sort of connection with submarines could be imagined, perhaps, although the way the snorkel got its name was in quite a different way.

THE COMPANY which built the apparatus was at the time without a definite name for the thing when it was experimenting in the field, way up there in Michigan (and also experimenting) firemen had just tried the thing out and as a consequence had gotten drenched to the skin. His comments on alighting from the platform (somewhat edited) were, "I don't get as wet as that when skin diving with my 'snorkel'." The man happened to be an amateur skin diver.

For reason, the company officials have apparently latched onto the name ever since.

Oh, A'Kayaking We Will Go--That's One Orindan

By MARIE MONAHAN

A KAYAK to Nyack was just a line from a song until we reached Doug Gould at his Orinda home. "It's really something," he enthused loudly, "when the kayaks start down the rapids and the boys are hollering 'Come on, Mr. Gould,' to me still on the bank."

The scout leader's keenness for the sport of kayaking came across over the phone and at last we were learning first-hand from "the man behind the boys" who built kayaks for an exciting adventure this past summer.

"The old sport of kayaking is finally catching on in California, but there still aren't more than 1,000 of them in the state, 15 of which are right in our own Orinda backyards and garages," Gould continued.

"The boys built their own kayaks, partly with their own earned monies, partly from funds earned by the Explorer Post Christmas tree sale.

"You know, of course, (we didn't), that kayaking is a favorite European sport which has been a long-time Olympic Game event with participation from Germany, Austria, Sweden and France. Here it's brand new, but boy it's going to be big!"

His enthusiasm grew as he explained the thrills, skills and even the spills of this surfing sport. "Summer skiing is another word for it," he said, "and the boats, originating with the Eskimos, are flat boards centered with single-seat cockpits. They're great for riding the rapids or the 'white waters' as we call it." And then he told us of one unfortunate mishap last summer on the Merced River when one of the scouts hit a "haystack" (water over rocks) and the forceful wave of water shot right down his lap to fill the cockpit and sink the boat which had been months in the making. Besides his kayak, the boy lost $75 when the force of water literally lifted his wallet right out of his pocket.

The kayaks were made by the fourteen Eagle Scouts to specifications and are comparable to commercial crafts that retail from $175 to $450.

Two major father-son efforts went into the kayak building: the sale of trees during the holiday season and the ultimate construction of the kayaks.

One of the two types of kayaks was made, from Sierra Club molds, into polyester resin-fiber glass boats; Albion Harmon, St., and Joe Sanderson over-seeing the most helpful in overseeing this type construction.

scouting, he just loves to build boats.

Gould and his scouting fathers who include Bob Rieser and Joe Sanderson have made several trips to the Russian and American Rivers and also the mean Merced with the boys. "We emphasize the safety measure required for this skilled sport," and one rule, related Gould, is that no one ever kayaks alone. Life jackets and flotation cells are also standard safety gear and the "real thrill and fun of the sport is being equipped with common sense, a certain knack and the safety precautions.

"One problem the boys do have," laughed Gould lightly, "is sometimes pacifying or assuring their worrisome mothers."

FLASH IN BRIGHT SUN
People often can't help but squint when you take their picture under a bright summer's sun but here's a trick to overcome it—use flash-in flash. Let the sun shine on the back of your subject so he won't squint. Set your camera for normal sun-light exposure and use a blue flash bulb. This formula works well for subjects between seven and fifteen-feet from the camera. Be sure you shade the lens from direct sunlight to prevent "flare."

Juvenile Hall Needs Workers For Musicians

By VAL VOLUNTEER

Think of this for a "change of pace" evening . . . beating out familiar tunes on a piano and leading the group sing-a-longs at Juvenile Hall, Martinez, 7:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

No need to be a Leonard Bernstein or a Mitch Miller to qualify . . . just a desire to throw in some "extras" for the children in the Hall.

Single guys and gals, senior citizens—any interested persons with limited time for volunteer work—wouldn't this be your cup of tea? P. S. The Hall can also use receptionists for its 6:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. Family Visiting Hour.

Semifinalists For Exchange Program Told

Mrs. Charles W. Wagner, chairman of the Americans Abroad committee for the Orinda Chapter of the American Field Service, has announced the selection of four finalists, chosen in interview Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Liebhold, 301 Overhill Road, Orinda.

The finalists are: Sally Ann Kocher, 11 Van Tassel Lane; Allene Frances Greisch, 84 Tara Road; Janet Margaret Thiele, 40 Valencia Road; and Laura Griffith, 14 Ardor Drive.

Their names are now submitted to the New York office of the American Field Service for final selection.

Mrs. Wagner and her committee have expressed thanks to all the students who applied. She stated that it was "extremely difficult to select only four from the 14 excellent students who were interviewed."

Orinda and Moraga residents will have an opportunity to help the AFS program next weekend when Miramonte High School students will call on local residents for their contributions.

Two Doctors Sue County For Water Damages

Two property damage suits totaling $21,500 were filed in Martinez Superior Court Monday against Contra Costa County.

The complainants were Drs. Carl Wellington Smith of 32 Via Floreado, Orinda and Herbert C. Enos of 936 Dewing Avenue, Lafayette.

Dr. Smith charged that inadequate drainage around his home during October, 1962 was "due to the careless manner in which the road was improved and maintained by the county." The resultant slippage of mud and debris, he claimed, depreciated his property. He asked for $14,000 compensation.

Dr. Enos charged that a blocked culvert caused the overflow of a creek that did $7500 worth of damage to his medical offices.

New Filtered Water System For Moraga

Construction will start soon on a new 10-million gallon filtered water reservoir in Moraga.

East Bay Water engineers said they have been watching the growth and development of the Moraga area and foresee the definite need for this expanded distribution facility in the near future.

Low bidder on the project was the firm of Baldwin, Erickson & Tait, Inc., of San Francisco with a successful bid of $636,166. Work is expected to start next month, and the completion date is approximately two years away.

The reservoir will serve all of the St. Mary's and Moraga area by dependable gravity flow. Consumers will not notice any pressure change, according to East Bay Water's Chief Engineer Joseph D. DeCosta.

The reservoir will be a basin carved out of a knoll at the 750-foot elevation a half-mile southeast of Hall Drive and 600 feet east of Moraga Highway. It will be concrete lined and will be covered to preserve the integrity of the filtered water system.

Orinda Lions Rummage Sale For The Blind

One hundred dollars for the blind was given this week by the Orinda Lions Club from the results of a recent rummage sale held in Berkeley.

This announcement was made at the club's weekly meeting by sale chairman Ben Johnson and blind project chairman Vasco Gianini.

"IT WAS wonderful how our neighbors in Orinda responded with rummage to make this sale possible," remarked Johnson.

Dr. Art Yorsh, D.D.S., of Vancouver, B.C., was the surprise speaker at this same meeting. His subject was "Hypnotism, An Aid to Medicine and Dentistry."

Lion president Richard Hale announced next Tuesday's noon meeting would be highlighted with a program by Lynn Vierra, whose subject will be "Fishing in South America."

Rotarians Hear Tallow Talk

Orinda Rotarians heard Nels Hamberg, general manager of Peterson Tallow Company, Emeryville, speak at their regular meeting Wednesday at Mike Lynn's Restaurant.

Hamberg showed films depicting the processing of tallow in the company's Los Angeles plant. Charles Ivy was program chairman for the day and Stan Massie presided.

At last week's meeting, the club's guest speaker was Gaylord Fox, administrator of the Pedregal Institute, Lafayette. Fox spoke on mental health.

Next week Dr. George Eberhart, veterinary doctor, will be the Rotary speaker.

Briefing Meets Scheduled By GOP Committee

The Contra Costa County Republican Central Committee will sponsor a series of three "GOP Briefing Sessions" featuring a state assemblyman, state senator and U.S. congressman.

Speaking will be state Senator John F. McCarthy, Wednesday; Assemblyman Don Mulford, November 13, and on December 11, a GOP congressman, as yet undetermined.

Each of the state legislators will cover his particular branch of the legislature in the last meeting. The congressman will cover the current session of Congress.

The sessions will be held at the Concord Inn, the entire series costing $3. Individual sessions are $1.50. All of the sessions are on Wednesday evenings starting promptly at 8 o'clock.

Norm Passur, Walnut Creek, who is handling the sessions, has stated, "We have reserved a large room which will hold 500 persons, and we expect a heavy turnout. I urge interested persons to buy their tickets now."

Tickets are available by calling Republican Headquarters, 284-4096, or Jack Pedder, 284-4614. Also, all Republican Women's Clubs will be distributing tickets.

Moraga Students Contribute To Greek Child

The International Relations Organization of Campolindo High School, Moraga, has financially "adopted" Maria Sachinidi, a nine-year old Greek girl, through Foster Parents' Plan, Inc., 352 Park Avenue South, New York City.

The group has promised to contribute $15 a month for the child's support for at least a year, and has already received a picture of the new overseas relative and a complete case history.

MARIA LIVES with her mother, her brother, sister and two grandparents in a little village near Kastoria, northwestern Greece. Her father, a farmhand, was killed in 1959 when a tractor overturned, and left his family destitute.

The family owns a small farm and one cow, lives in a one floor house of two rooms. Maria is a pupil in the third grade, has brown hair and eyes. She likes best to read and play tag.

"ADOPTION" through PLAN is financial, not legal. Of the $15 monthly that the foster parent agrees to contribute for at least a year, the child receives $8 a month as a cash grant. The rest is spent for food and new clothing, medical care, school fees and equipment and translations of letters. Because each child is different, PLAN meets any special needs through its general fund which is made up on contributions from donors.

Foster Parents' Plan, Inc., is a non-sectarian, non-profit, non-propaganda, independent, government-approved organization.

FOR ADVANCED STUDENTS

Too many cameras go to bed early—and miss some of the beauties of a city at night. For a unique color slide, try shooting a downtown street scene at night after a summer rainstorm. Reflections on the slick, shiny street will add sparkle and interest to the view and exposure is not too critical. Using a tripod, try 1/25 second at f/2 with Kodachrome II film as your basic setting.

We Have Bus System, Too

Nationwide there are about 33 per cent of high school youngsters who don't receive diplomas.

In California that figure is about 25 per cent.

But in the Alacanes High School District (five institutions) the figure is an astronomical low of 4.8 per cent "and even less."

"I guess if you want to judge how good the district is that would be a pretty fair standard," Superintendent Neil Parsons told members of the Lafayette Lions Club.

Rattling away on the same theme, Parsons said the average student in the district does better in nationwide test programs than 82 per cent of students everywhere; colleges and universities have a high regard for the district, and Alacanes had more semi-finalists (24) in a recent national scholarship program than even Oakland or any other high school district in Contra Costa County.

Parsons described for the Lions the district's "composite" teacher.

HE (TWO-THIRDS of them are male) is married, has two children, lives in the Central County area, possessed about four years of teaching experience before coming here and earns $8000 a year.

"Our district represents big business," the superintendent related.

"The budget totals more than $4 million a year. We have 295 certificated employees and 150 classified workers. Three of our schools have an enrollment in excess of 1300 each. Ninety-four courses are offered at Alacanes High alone."

Cabana, Pools, Clubhouse Offered At New Tract

By ROSELLE ANDERSON

TWO MILLION DOLLAR DEVELOPMENT — Carlo Zocchi, president of Crown Homes, Concord, announced after a year in preparation, Springwood, the new $2 million dollar planned community of homes in Concord is now open for viewing. Springwood combines the advantages of city living with the privacy of the countryside. It features its own cabana club with two pools, sun deck and clubhouse.

Springwood is minutes from schools, shopping etc. yet lends a country atmosphere mid many walnut trees. Zocchi indicated each home will have at least one tree.

Priced from $20,700, Springwood features three, four and five bedrooms, two baths, all-electric kitchens, family rooms, shake roofs, etc. There are 12 exteriors and four floor plans to satisfy individual tastes.

Three models are now open.

Past Walnut Creek turn-off to Ygnacio Valley Rd., left on Oak Grove, right on Treat Lane, right on Clayton Road, and then left on Glazier Drive to Concord Boulevard. Right on Concord to Springwood.

DANVILLE'S SUBDIVISIONS SELL, Jones Macdonald in Danville proudly posted six "sold" signs in Diablo Hacienda, last month. This leaves only three of the original 66 built for sale. Their other subdivision is doing quite well too. Brookside Estates just got off the ground in the beginning of the summer and already the five Francis Finigan and Jack Metez are constructing are sold. Twenty more custom homes are planned as sales are made.

THE CROSSROADS BUILDING, ORINDA is officially ready to show off its its glamorous architecture as designed by Craig & Danaloff of Lafayette. Speagle Construction Co. of Berkeley put the finishing touches on Oct. 1, Alfred Pettler, ad agency owner and Maynard Buehler, manufacturer of gunsight mounts, are the proud owners of the first four story office building to be completed in Orinda. Pettler comments the building is completely air conditioned, has a passenger elevator, and sufficient parking on the ground floor for tenants as well as customers. They will subdivide to suit.

At present the Phoenix Optical Company, Orinda Olive Corporation, State Farm Insurance and Pettler Advertising Inc. have leased space.

THREE MONTH vacation ends for Reed Chase and wife Wanda of Eyring-Chase Real Estate office in Walnut Creek. The couple flew to Shannon, Ireland, and visited all of Europe, including a stay with their daughter and son-in-law, Lt. J. Bonner Ritchie at Kaiserlautern.

"There are 2500 persons in the adult program. Last summer we had 1300 students catching up on some studies."

THE DISTRICT is no slouch, either, at being in the transportation business.

"Of all districts in the state, we are the fifth largest in the number of pupils hauled each year (two million)," Parsons told his audience at The Lafayette.

The superintendent said the prime mission of the district is to offer the best instruction possible.

For that reason, the district has on the average one teacher for every 24 students. Last year 1170 persons applied to the district because of its reputation and the area's living attractions, but for each teaching post available, only six were interviewed, Parsons said.

"BUT CALIFORNIA is growing and our own higher schools of learning can't supply anywhere near the demand," he added. "We need 20,000 new teachers every year. Not only that but colleges and universities must add to their faculties and they recruit from high school districts. Last year we lost 10 very fine teachers."

Parsons reminded the Lions that if they were to revisit high schools today they would hardly understand any of the curriculum.

"We have team teaching and new concepts in the instruction of mathematics, science and chemistry, plus many new audio visual aids," he said.

"But come and visit us any time. We'll be glad to see you."

Parsons was introduced by Lafayette Attorney Harold Muttick.

United Crusade Reports Lag In Contra Costa

United Bay Area Crusade clicked off a third of its 1963 campaign goal at noon Wednesday, when the 50,000 volunteer Crusaders rang up their first report of $3,927,391.

The near $4 million is 34.4 per cent of the $11,407,000 community agency need and is a "shade ahead of last year after the same number of days in the field," it was reported at the five-county luncheon at the Fairmount in San Francisco.

In county standings, San Francisco was the leader with $595,792, or 25 per cent of its goal, tucked away in the Bay Area United Fund, Contra Costa, traditional slow-starter in the annual campaign, was low man at 11 per cent attainment, sending in $30,510 on its $287,000 local goal.

Breakdown of Contra Costa local divisions showed the professional group of doctors, lawyers and dentists, headed by Robert Cooney of El Cerrito, in the lead with 21 per cent of its goal. Commerce and Industry follows with 16.6 per cent attainment; Education has attained 8.9 per cent of its goal, public employees 6.4 per cent, and business trails with only 2.3 of its goal attained.

The countywide women's division is off on its house-to-house coverage today under County Chairman Mrs. David W. Calfee with a goal of $48,600.

Fine Levied In Diablo Club Gambling Case

Two Alameda firemen were identified yesterday as the persons who set up gaming equipment at the plush Diablo Country Club two weeks ago.

However, fire officials said no disciplinary action was being planned against the pair, Noel Van Der Haeghen and Jack Liebhart, for the simple reason that no illegal act had been committed.

Van Der Haeghen has a part-time job delivering and setting up the equipment at clubs that sponsor "fun nights."

Meanwhile, the Diablo club's manager, Frank MacHugh, was fined $110 and sentenced to a year's probation last Friday for running a gambling game.

Baldwin Trouble At Home

"I'm outnumbered!" exclaimed Congressman John F. Baldwin.

But this outcry wasn't occasioned by another last ditch battle to defend his Military Pay Bill against attacks of penny-pinching congressional commandoes from Capitol Hill.

No. It was because of a difference within the congressman's own home.

HIS DAUGHTERS have become Junior Girl Scouts. This is a definite break with the tradition established by their congressman father. He never belonged to the girl scouts. In fact, he belonged to the other party — the boy scouts.

And to top it all off, his oldest daughter, Mary, age 10, is even taking a girl scout course in Leadership. Which may lead to all sorts of further complications in the Baldwin household. She may even introduce a motion to banish cornflakes from the Baldwins' breakfast table. If so, she could no doubt count on the affirmative vote of her younger sister, Sylvia, who, after all, belongs to the same girl scout troop.

Would father Baldwin exercise a veto power in that event? Congressman Baldwin wasn't immediately available for comment on this explosive question, but it's rumored that the cornflakes lobby in Washington is greatly interested in whether or not Mrs. Baldwin herself was once a girl scout. They seem to think it might make a difference.

Sun Shopping News

The Classified Section (Want Ads to most of us) in the 4 Sun Newspapers and The Sun Shopping News has been redesigned to make it more interesting and more useable for readers and advertisers.

There are new headings or classifications, grouped together for similar goods and services on the Want Ad pages of the Sun Shopping News and 4 Sun Newspapers. There are new rates, too, designed to help every advertiser get more for what he spends by allowing more complete descriptions.

EASY to Find

With the revised chart on classifications, ads are easier to find. This index-chart (see below) will often be printed in the 4 Sun Newspapers and the Sun Shopping News. It will guide you to the particular goods or services in which you are interested.

EASY to Read

Because Want Ads in the 5 Sun papers are not priced by the word, but by groups of words, advertisers will be able to describe their goods more completely. Better description will make their ads more readable—even more successful.

Easy to Use

Advertisers will find Want Ads in the 4 Suns and Sun Shopping News are easier to use than in the past. Note on the rate card below that not only are the "words" packaged but the "number of times" are also packaged. Your ad can run 3 or 4 times for very little more, and, of course, you can cancel as soon as you get results.

" . . . But I see very few birds in our yard at this time of the year," complained a neophyte bird observer. "Just a few sparrows and one of those largish brown birds, what do you call them, towhees?"

AND SO WE took two walks: One in a Walnut Creek garden with school children playing noisily next door, the other along an Orinda road. The resultant list was not large, 40 species, but better than the "few sparrows." It could have been duplicated in Danville, Lafayette or Pleasant Hill any day of the week.

A male Anna's Hummingbird, brilliant rosy red throat and forehead glittering, sipped his bruch of nectar and drowned insects from a bank of blooming Zauschneria, the red "hummingbird flower." He is the only species of hummer with us for the winter season. His relative, the Allen's Hummer, who nested in our gardens this summer, is spending the winter in southern Mexico or Central America.

A BAND of five Mourning Doves sailed out of the valley oaks, wings whistling, their long pointed tails white-margined. "Oooh-ooh," sounded from the oak tree where three more sat preening.

A flash of salmon pink-lined, powerful wings marked the Red-shafted Flicker, breast stroking through the warm air. We had disturbed him from his meal where he'd been sitting at a busy ant hill, energetically licking up the crawling insects with his long tongue.

"YACOB, YACOB!" came the harsh call of the Acorn Woodpecker from a telephone pole. His red cap shone in the sun as he clung to the acorn-tudded wood, bill full, trying to decide where to place his next mouthful.

A weedy patch of dry ground was full of sparrows, mostly white-crowned, many immature but several plumaged males with their black and white striped heads conspicuous through field glasses. From the hedge nearby came their characteristic song, heard all over Contra Costa at this time of the year. One lone Golden-Crowned Sparrow sang his "Three Blind Mice" call from a rose thicket, where a small, compact, pert silhouette of a Song Sparrow showed against the light.

The soft rolling song of the Purple Finch coaxed us up a driveway where we welcomed by the sometimes harsh, sometimes beautiful song of the California Thrasher, echoed by another thrasher across the garden. They called back and forth for several minutes while we watched in vain for the large brown bird with the long, down-curved bill. A flock of American Goldfinches flew into view while we were waiting. One respondent male was still in full summer plumage, like a bright yellow flower as he hung on the dry thistle heads with his more somberly clad friends who were already in their greyish brown winter dress.

High in a pine tree near the banks of Walnut Creek came the sharp "Chit, chit" of the Audubon's Warbler, just arrived for the winter. We caught the flash of his yellow wing and head patches as he pivoted in mid air for a flying insect.

SWERVING in a compact band out of an oak and back was a band of 10 or 12 starlings, a sad sight for any lover of wild life. If sighted outside city limits, these speckled pests would make excellent targets for the itchy trigger fingers of pellet gun owners. Mothers, take note, but just be sure it is starlings your young man zeroes in on. At this time of year they look much like fat blackbirds, but speckled over and with considerably shorter tails. Even Father with his shot gun might be encouraged to remove a band of these pests from your neighborhood before they become the huge problem they have quickly developed into in other communities.

trained on a handsome little White-breasted Nuthatch busily hunting insects down the silvery branches of an ailing walnut tree, his mountain cousin, the Red-breasted Nuthatch, flew into the same tree, giving an excellent opportunity for comparison of these two species. Both have a nasal "Ank ank" call and both are conspicuously marked.

"MY HUSBAND and I have never seen a Nuthatch before," remarked an observer, "but since I've been studying birds we have seen them many times in our garden. I wonder if they were there all the time. It could be just that she was right!"

Round Trip By Triple A

(Editor's Note: Our man from England, writer-photographer John Teale, tells in his inimitable way how we kept a promise to a British patrolman who came out winners.)

By JOHN TEALE

I feel that I cannot let much more of this year slip by without some sort of comment on the trip which I made a few weeks ago to New York and back.

Some time earlier this year I had been cajoled into joining the Triple A here in Walnut Creek. I did it mainly to avoid pangs of conscience I made to a British counterpart Automobile Association motorcycle patrolman I met near Sandringham House in Norfolk, England last year. Since that time I have been somewhat erratic and unstable in my movements due to my job, until arriving here in California and after catching my breath I did as promised and "joined up."

The small initiation fee charged, I soon discovered to be no more than a single tow job would cost in case of breakdown. So far, fortunately, I have not had the misfortune to have to take advantage of this service by the AAA.

I have however made good use of their map and route facilities as I shall describe hereafter.

NORMALLY, I never experience any difficulty in finding my way around any country, be it the hinterland of Canada or Switzerland's mountains or New York State. New York City, however, I always get lost in despite its uniformity of streets and avenues.

This time, however, I decided to consult the association before departing on my long trip, just for the "heck of it."

I called the office a few weeks prior to departing . . . fortunately . . . because it appears that they cannot just pull a route right out of the bag sort thing. Conditions change on our nation's roads so rapidly that the triple A must insist on giving a route which is not, say, a year old or even perhaps a month old.

When I applied for the route maps I never imagined what a parcel of information I would receive. I had in mind perhaps four maps at the most, West Coast, Central and East Coast and perhaps a general United States map. What a hope! I would like to say that I would need an extra suit case to carry them all in, but I would be exaggerating somewhat. It really did amount to considerably more than would cram into a large size glove compartment.

I GOT the maps I had originally though I would get, but these were merely a bonus since these are the standard type (not kept right up to date) as to be found in gasoline stations. The trip book of maps itself contained dozens of pages of maps, describing in the minutest detail a stretch of road no more than about 200 miles long at the most. I mentioned that this service is right up to date and it is.

Along each road section along which I was routed were inked in marks which told me where sections of the road were being repaired. Where I might expect a speed trap to be set up. Some sections of Route 40 (which I would have stuck to implicitly had I made the trip without this consultation) were ruled out completely on the way back.

THROUGH Kansas and into Denver, I traveled hundreds of miles on what looked to me like a back road on the standard map. The Triple A, however, knew it to be an excellent route, hardly traveled by interstate traffic, and this must have saved me tremendously on both time, distance and harassment.

For each section of the country I was issued a "Blue Book" of motel and hotel accommodation. Although my trip each way was done in a hurry (Four days and two nights driving there and the same back) the nights I did spend in bed were sought out from the information handed me. Prices and descriptions were both accurate and extremely helpful.

ARRIVING in New York City, I accidentally happened upon the AAA offices near the Coliseum in that city and decided to avail myself of the trans-continental membership that they boasted about. I discovered it was no idle gossip.

Presenting my membership card, I was given every consideration and help possible in finding my way around the Empire City. Maps and travel literature from that source alone would have cost me approximately $5 "outside."

Thanks to that little man in the khaki suit astride the familiar (to Brits) motorcycle and side car back there in England . . . I discovered something worth while here in the United States.

P.S. The Double A—Automobile Association of Britain—is affiliated with America's Triple A and I understand both organizations recognise each other's members.

In Britain however the militarily attired officers of the organization patrol the roads on a 24-hour basis in small yellow and black vans or riding similarly colored motor cycles with side car attached.

Each officer is hired only on condition that he be a reasonably accredited motor mechanic and also that he becomes a recognised First Aider certified by The St. Johns Ambulance Brigade.

The association also installs its own telephone boxes extensively throughout the entire country and each member is given a master key to open the box for the intention of making emergency telephone calls.

The AA in Britain does not have a rival in the shape of a similarly organised unit called the Royal Automobile Club. The only difference, I believe, is in the uniform which is Airforce Blue.

Until 1962 members of the club who display the official badge on the front of their automobiles were rewarded by a smart and snappy salute from passing officers, AA and RAC alike. This practice, however, ceased when it was decided that it was an unsafe practice . . . officially, that is.

Where Are You, Ex Navy Men?

The Orinda Sea Scout Ship "Bonita" needs adult leaders.

Adults with experience and interest in boats, diesel engines, and scouting are needed to help carry out an active Sea Scout program.

Skipper Glenn Newhouse and Mates Les Ruf and Jack Gilmore lead a group of 15 high school boys who meet twice a month at the Orinda Community Church.

This group has a 37-foot diesel powered boat that is berthed at the Berkeley Yacht Harbor.

Recent activities of the Sea Scout Ship "Bonita" included a three day cruise from Berkeley to Sacramento to attend the State Fair and a two day bay cruise with an over-night stay at Angel Island and fishing on the San Francisco bay.

Anyone interested in helping this group, please call Dr. Glenn I. Newhouse, at 254-8799.

Plans For Pool Given To Boy's Ranch At Byron

Donald T. Doughty of Orinda, national president of the Swimming Pool Institute of the United States, has agreed to donate a set of plans and specifications for the proposed swimming pool to be constructed at the Boys' Ranch at Byron.

Doughty's offer was announced at a recent meeting of the swimming pool steering committee held at Juvenile Hall, and presided over by Chairman George Gillespie of Lafayette, vice-president of the Contra Costa Juvenile Hall Auxiliary.

Others present at the luncheon meeting to discuss fund-raising and organization of the project were county probation officer John Davis, Boys' Ranch superintendent Cecil Landrum, Juvenile Hall superintendent Robert Hamlin, and Paul Bayard, treasurer; Marvin Turner, ways and means chairman, and Blanche C. Johnston and Dora Friedrich, board members of the Juvenile Hall Auxiliary.

PRELIMINARY investigation indicates that with donations of labor and material, a standard 30 by 60-foot pool can be erected at a reasonable cost, Gillespie told his committee.

Meeting of the pool committee will be held monthly until all plans are completed, he said.

Chamber Asks Historical Society Aid

Orinda Chamber of Commerce directors have accepted the offer of a site at the Orinda Library for the deLaveaga memorial, and have asked the California Historical Society for suggestions as to the type of memorial to be erected.

Secretary Clarence Betz said this week the society's suggestions will be considered along with others received by the chamber. One idea presented suggests a bench, he said.

The chamber has also requested the State Division of Highways to alter the traffic signal at Brookwood Road and Camino Pablo to allow traffic coming from the westbound freeway off-ramp or from Orinda Village to proceed left on Brookwood before traffic coming along Camino Pablo from Moraga.

At its regular meeting last week at the Casa Orinda, the chamber heard Ward Cockerton speak of the work of a fireman. Cockerton is coordinator of fire training at Diablo Valley College.

DVC awards associate in arts degrees in firefighting. Cockerton said, and explained firemen study modern methods and equipment. Orinda Fire Chief Al Winsor was program chairman for the meeting.

Health Clinic In Walnut Creek On Wednesday

The next County Health Department immunization clinic for the Walnut Creek area will be held at the Presbyterian Church, 1720 Oakland Boulevard, Wednesday from 2 to 4:45 p.m. for all persons who have difficulty obtaining these services privately.

Immunizations for polio, diphtheria-tetanus, whooping cough, and smallpox are available at the immunization clinics. All three styles of Sabin oral polio vaccine and Salk injectable polio vaccine are available. A period of 6 to 8 weeks must elapse between taking each of the three types of oral polio vaccine.

Those 13 years of age and under must be accompanied by a parent or guardian, and those 14 to 21 must have a Health Department consent form signed by a parent or guardian.

The Health Department does not keep records of each individual's immunization, and recommends that these be kept by the person or his family. Immunizations are best secured from one's own private physician who keeps permanent records of all services.

EARLY COLOR PHOTO

As long ago as 1891 James Clark Maxwell described a theoretic process for projecting photographs in natural color by using images exposed through red, green, and violet filters. But it was not until 1873 that it was discovered how to sensitize film to red and green light since a silver bromide emulsion is naturally sensitive only to blue light.

Red Sky Prediction Comes True

And Oh, what beautiful Red Skies in the Morning, as we had Tuesday before the rains. Skies beyond the painters' wildest a huge set of paints and brushes and they made the skies their dreams. Somebody must have turned the gremlins loose with own coloring book. . . . Speaking of letting the little people loose with their paint sets, have you taken a ride through the canyon or the Oakland Hills, recently? The poison oak is a sight to be held. Makes you want to stop the car, get out and start collecting autumn leaves. Take my advice and DON'T!

SPEAKING OF AUTUMN leaves, the Autumn Leaves Ball is Saturday evening and the Newcomers Luncheon will be held Saturday afternoon.

Saturday Morn be sure to get your car wash from the Boy Scouts at Accomazzo's Shell Station in Rheem Center, and have a lovely shiny car for your dates. If you are not attending the above mentioned affairs, the Scouts will be washing cars all day Saturday so be sure to save your wash job for their fund raiser. The boys do a very good job at a reasonable price, judging from past experiences.

"COME ON IN"—That's the invitation to all newcomers to Moraga issued by the Moraga Newcomers Club. Its annual fall luncheon will be tomorrow. Planning for the affair are Mmes. Oscar Paris, William Johnson, Richard Swan and Frank Stephens.

The Boy Scout Troop had their first class camp out last weekend on Utah Property behind the college. There were approximately 31 boys and their guests, divided into three groups. Boys finishing requirements for first ditto for second class and boys finishing requirements for camping merit badge.

BOY SCOUT LEADERS Tom Clarke and Bill Loomis used six of the older boys for counselors: John Clarke Jr., assistant Scoutmaster; Lee Whitt, senior patrol leader; Gary Fiset, Tom Hacker, Tom Hermansens and Bill Loomis, patrol leaders.

New boys attending the campout were Jim Steadman, a transfer from Seattle; Butch Gollnick, Bob Blackmuir, Dan Zimmerlin, Bill McBride, Paul Meredith, Mark Hubner, and Jim Corbett, transfer from Danville. The new boys participated with the second class group.

The boys initiated their newest assistant Scout master, Jack Zimmerlin, in a campfire ceremony. The Eagle Court of Honor is coming up Oct. 29 and the annual court of honor in November. The boys are still working on the Scout hut and are hoping to put in a driveway soon, before too many rains, so they can get into the hut come rain or shine. The car wash coming up will help them attain this goal.

GIRL SCOUT CALENDAR sale coming up. It starts November 1, thru the 30th. The price will be the same, 50 cents each. The Girl Scouts are in all new changeover—Moraga has its own council now. The new neighborhood chairman is Trudy Hoover; troops organizer, Faye Parker; troop consultant (or trouble shooter), Janet Breidenbach; public relations, Marie Wright. The group held elections at their last meeting; Trudy Hoover is automatically a delegate at large, Marie Wright and Janet Breidenbach were elected delegates. The two alternate delegates are Faye Parker and Lillian Brogan.

Marie Wright says of the new regime "We will be doing Big Things this year, both at the neighborhood level and the troop level." There will be eight active troops, under the new neighborhood chairman, and many big things planned that we will be hearing about.

The new merging of councils has many advantages for our Scouts. One important one is, the Scouts will now have 13 camps instead of the previous one. Some of the new camps are geared for primitive camping, some for country type camping, some for boating, etc. There will always be a new adventure ahead.

INTERESTING STATISTICS under the new council: 2500 registered troops and an approximate total of 42,000 girls. That's quite a few. Speaking at council's last neighborhood meeting was Mrs. Kay Hallston, past president of the Girl Scouts in Contra Costa County and now a delegate to the national Convention to be held Monday in Miami, Florida.

Doctors Says Autumn Means Heart Trouble

Crisp autumn air may spell trouble for the man about the house, especially if he is over 40, warns Dr. Noah H. Sloan, medical director for the Allstate Life Insurance Company.

Dr. Sloan says crispness in the air may induce a homeowner to engage in more exercise than is good for him, putting a severe strain on his heart.

Too much exertion hunting ducks or deer, or too much exertion raking leaves have been known to bring on heart attacks, he cautions.

"THESE ARE twin fall dangers," Dr. Sloan declares. "The hunter should not walk too far, become weakened by overexposure or strain himself in carrying out a deer or other game. By the same token, prolonged, unaccustomed labor from leaf raking can induce heart attacks in the fall."

Instead of attacking the leaf raking job at a furious pace, Dr. Sloan suggests a more leisurely approach. He advises:

1. Take frequent breaks. Enjoy the fall colors and the brisk air.
  2. Don't carry large containers of leaves. Break the load up into easily portable amounts.
  3. Whether using a leaf rake or a mechanical lawn sweeper which must be pushed, stop to rest whenever you feel winded. Don't rush on to the end of the row or some other self imposed goal.
- He also suggests appropriate dress. Clothing should be warm, but not so tight that it restricts easy movement.

Beauty Contest For Tots, Teens

Registration for the Contra Costa County Tots-to-Teen show are being taken today and tomorrow at the J. C. Penney Company, Walnut Creek, and the W. T. Grant Company, Concord.

The program is open to children from infancy through 12 years, with a baby class, birth to six years, and a subteen class, six to 13 years.

A baby beauty show will be held to determine the most beautiful girl and most handsome boy of the county. A baby king and queen will be crowned Nov. 17 in Pittsburg.

Superior Judge David F. Bush has ordered the Contra Costa Board of Supervisors to stop stalling on the redistricting of the county's five supervisorial districts.

The ruling, handed down Tuesday, amounted to a harsh reprimand for the board. Judge Bush found that the Board had arbitrarily and unjustly refused to redistrict Contra Costa County in violation of the government code setting forth standards for such redistricting, and had thereby discriminated against the areas of the county which do not have supervisorial representation in proportion to their population.

JUDGE BUSH allowed a "reasonable time" for the supervisors to comply with his order for redistricting, and warned that failure to do so would bring further appropriate action by the court.

The judge retained the right to determine what may be considered "reasonable time."

The ruling was a victory for Lafayette attorney Harold Mutnick, who filed the suit against the board in behalf of himself and all other taxpayers.

MUTNICK charged that of the five county districts two of them—Districts One and Three, covering Walnut Creek, Concord and Martinez—have a combined total of approximately 70 per cent of the county's population.

Xmas Cards To Be Sold For Research

For the fifth consecutive year, Christmas cards are being offered by the Contra Costa County Heart Association for those wishing to make a yuletide contribution for research.

Contributors are given a choice of two cards for their Christmas mailing lists. This season both cards are predominantly blue in color and on light background to allow space for handwritten messages.

The first greeting card is in blue and gold with stylized bells on the front cover. The second card has a religious motif, featuring the three wise men and the angel Gabriel in blue and russet on a cream-colored background.

Each card states, "This card signifies a contribution to your Heart Association."

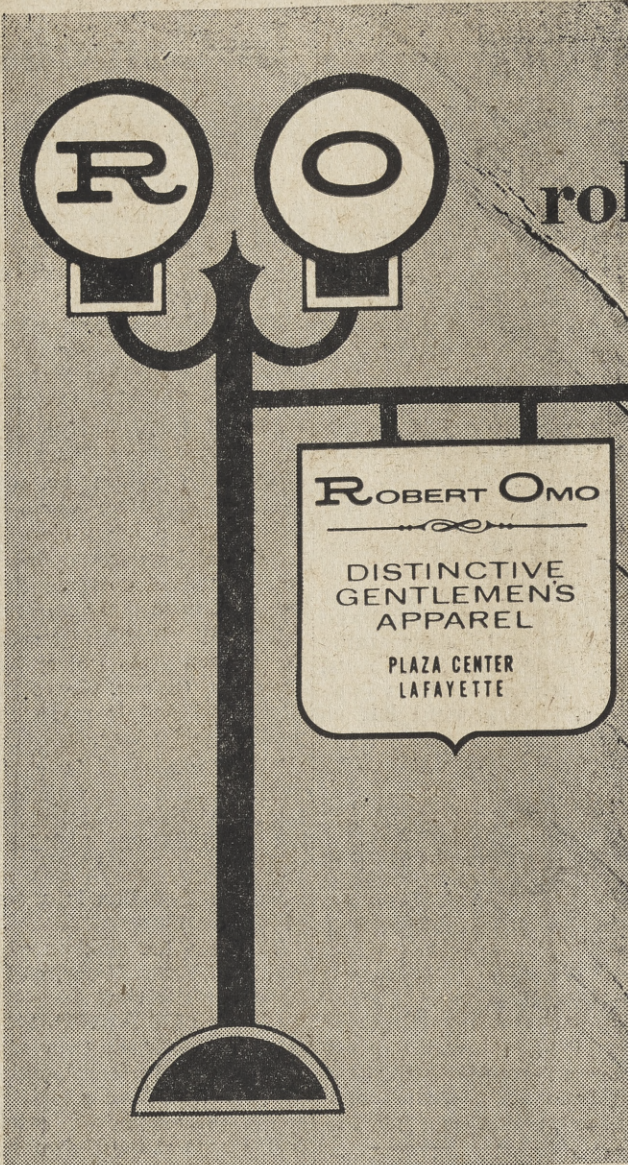

BECAUSE SIX Bay Area Heart Association chapters have pooled orders, the local chapter will be able to channel the greater portion of contributions received to a fund earmarked for research, according to Martin Paley, president of the organization. Costs of printing and mailing must first be deducted. Handling is largely done by volunteers according to the Heart Association.

Procedure was outlined as follows: Donors make a contribution to the Heart Association of the amount usually spent on Christmas cards. In return, they will receive a supply of cards for their mailing lists.

CARDS MAY BE imprinted with name for a slight additional charge, on orders received before November 30.

Orders may be placed with the Contra Costa County Heart Association, 1541 East Street, Walnut Creek, where samples are also available for selection. Samples will be mailed upon request by calling YE 5-1060.

Let's Set Those District Lines

Politics is politics, we admit, but there's a point where the line should be drawn—especially where public interest is concerned.

We're talking about the delay tactics of some members of the county Board of Supervisors over the setting of new boundary lines of the five supervisorial districts.

The State Supreme Court has ordered the five supervisors of Monterey County to realign their districts.

IN CONTRA COSTA County's case, an out-of-county Superior Court jurist who presided over a taxpayer's suit in regard to redistricting is soon expected to issue a writ of mandate compelling our supervisors to do the same thing.

The rub is that the jurist will state this should be accomplished "within a reasonable length of time."

Three of the supervisors, Mel Nielsen, Ed Linscheid and Joe Silva, are still trying to block any compliance with a redistricting order that may be rendered.

AT LAST week's meeting Dist. Attorney John Nejedly was asked by some of the supervisors if they could appeal the state Supreme Court's decision on redistricting. He answered that they could but that such a decision from the appellate court might not be given for at least two years!

Also, in response to a question from one supervisor, Nejedly interpreted "reasonable length of time"—insofar as redistricting is concerned—as being anywhere from 90 to 180 days.

If the latter time element was used, a redistricting order would not have to be carried out until after next year's election. The law specifies that no supervisorial boundaries may be altered within 90 days of an election.

IT IS interesting to note that the terms of the redistricting opponents—Nielsen, Linscheid and Silva—are up for re-election next year. Silva has stated he will not seek to retain his post but the other two have every hope of being returned to office.

The last time there was any change to the supervisorial districts was in 1908, and before that, 1873.

It was in 1908 that Walnut Creek was removed from District 2 (Nielsen's).

Now should there be another redistricting, and Walnut Creek is returned to the District 2 fold, that would mean several more opponents for Nielsen.

NONETHELESS, the three current supervisors are displaying politics at its worst by refusing to redistrict. Board Chairman James P. Kenny and Supervisor Thomas J. Coll are all for the idea, but they've been constantly thwarted by Nielsen, Linscheid and Silva.

"What's the hurry," they constantly ask.

But to us, that's dirty pool. The public interest is being served no good at all.

We say the politicians should do what is right, and that's redistrict.

The state's highest tribunal has ruled in one case new supervisorial boundaries must be set. And Contra Costa County's per district population was just as far off base as it was in Monterey County.

TO OUR supervisors, The Sun says, okay, boys, let's put politics aside and get on with the task of setting new boundary lines for each district.

Troubled Youth And The Blame

We think that everyone is quite alert to the important role that the teenager plays in the American Society.

And also to the problems that can stem from him.

In last week's edition of The Sun we ran two very important stories—one that cannot be ignored by either the young person or the adult in the community.

ONE TOLD how in a year's time thousands of our young people in the county get into trouble with the law.

The other story recounted the problems that face the pregnant teenager, and the number of girls who get into trouble in some school districts.

In both instances of where the young person gets into trouble with the law or the pregnant teenager there is very little counseling available to them.

Probation office and Juvenile Hall staffs are quite restricted in this respect and also Contra Costa County has no maternity homes and but very few foster homes.

WE DO BELIEVE, however, that some salient points were brought out by stories in regard to this matter.

The quotations probably tell them best.

Sheriff's Lt. Norman Wilson said, "We work hard with the child to find where his trouble is and most of it is in the home."

"The problem has to be licked right there."

"THESE youngsters have to be taught self-respect and self-discipline at home. Then they won't be coming to us."

And in her talk to members of the American Association of University Women, Asst. County Health Officer Dr. Yoshiye Togasaki said, "The increasing permissiveness of the parents has much to do with the entire problem by furnishing cars, money, drinks, while at the same time failing to provide an authoritative family environment."

And parents fail to serve as the proper models for their offspring.

Well, there you have it. The problem usually starts right at home!

Pro and Con We May Have A Boycott

(Ed. Note: Today our columnist comes up with an unusual angle relative to the proposed incorporation of a section of Lafayette. The opinions are his own, not The Sun's. But read on.)

By ROBERT KAHN

Boycott is a nasty word. I have never before proposed a boycott of anyone or anything. However, as I analyze the developments in the proposed strip incorporation of Lafayette it appears to be the only way that many residents of Lafayette will be able to vote.

Here is what is happening. Led by property owners—the biggest ones being those who live outside the area—an attempt is being made to grab the tax dollars that you and I pay in Lafayette—mainly for sales tax and gasoline tax. These dollars will not be used for the people who pay them—they will be used to reduce the taxes on property owners—and on some businesses. They will be used for expenditures that will increase the value of commercial property—not for purposes that will benefit the people who pay the taxes.

The process of taking this tax money is well along. A city has been proposed that will contain about 930 people. A petition is being passed—and this must be signed by the property owners. The residents have little to say if they don't own property. Then an election will be held.

Let's look at the election. How many people will vote? In the 1960 Presidents election the votes in California were 42 percent of the population. In the 1962 primaries they were 26 percent of the population. In local elections the percentages run even lower.

Therefore we can realistically expect that in a special election for incorporation—or even as part of the spring elections—that about 15 percent of the population would be the largest number who would vote. This means about 140 people. Actually the number might be even smaller because of the number of apartment dwellers—many of whom may not have lived here long enough to register. My personal prediction is that the final decision on the strip incorporation will be made by fewer than 100 votes!

Assume that 50 votes would carry incorporation—and that incorporation means a taking $300,000 of your money and giving it to the property owners—then each of these 50 votes are worth $6000 a year. This is the motivation behind the program to get residents to vote for incorporation.

This $300,000 should be spent for you. But you can't vote. At least, you can't vote in the formal election.

However, there is one group in this community who can receive messages from you—and give them to the property owners. That is the local merchant—the food stores and the gasoline stations and the service outlets. You can vote with him—and he can pass on the message. But it must be more than words—because this is a battle for dollars—a battle for $300,000 a year.

You must vote while the property owners can still change their mind—they can do this by taking their signature off the petition or by refusing to sign the petition.

However, I am concerned about unnecessary penalties on the merchants. Many of these people are caught in between the devil and the deep blue sea. Many of them are my friends.

Therefore I propose that all residents of Lafayette living outside the strip city—both individually and through their organized groups—advise the individual merchants and the people backing the incorporation move that if the petition is not withdrawn by Dec. 1, 1963, that an active consumer boycott will be started against every merchant and service outlet in Lafayette. Send copies of your letters to The Sun so that everyone can know that this move is spreading and that the 20,000 residents of Lafayette do not intend to have $300,000 taken from them by a handful of property owners.

By MARIE MONAHAN

THE FRESH feel of fall and a fine time to get away from it all.

The only trouble being by the time arrangements are made to "get away from it all," we'd almost rather stay home with it all; the placing of pets and progeny presents such herculean problems around here. (It's catching that darned pigeon and hunting out a horse-sitter!!!!!!)

AND trying to leave house tidy to come home to and packing everybody off in someone else's care leaves me looking more Mad Woman of Chailot-ish than with the Gabor or Garbo Image, an illusion I optimistically keep hoping to create.

BUT we finally sailed off into the sunset, the sound of skirling bagpipes luring us to the Highlands. In this case, to Carmel-by-the-Sea where we checked into Highlands Inn, an ethereal world all its own perched high and mighty over the spectacular seacoast of the blue Pacific.

THE RAIN had stopped and the ceiling of night was a shower of stardust blessing the brides and grooms who come to get married at the Inn's famous chapel and stay on to honeymoon at the heavenly spot.

The accommodations, rather than numbered, take the names of the Clansmen as in MacFarlane, MacTavish, etc. Our charming red and white cottage "Forbes" wore window boxes spilling begonias and geraniums like bridal bouquets.

When we complimented the Inn's distinguished gentleman-owner Robert Ramsey on the fine dining room fare, we learned the assistant chef got his training under the tyrannical tutelage of William Randolph Hearst, whose San Simeon is up the road apiece past Big Sur.

Magnificent views mesmerize from any point, out ANY window; a crashing surf; a flaming sunset setting fire to the cypress-studded hillsides; the famous Monarch butterflies in full bloom and flight; the peaked cap of the wee kirk a surprise through the trees.

EVEN the catastrophe of lipstick and comb left behind at home on my dressing table was dispelled. (Carmel town closes up tight as a clam by ten and nary a place to purchase one, either in supermarket or drugstore, the length of Monterey's neon-lit motel strip.) But the Inn's gift shop owner Ness Young, a former Chronicle staffer, sent the right shade along on the first morning's breakfast tray, literally saving my face.

IN THE HOOT MON bar, a set of bagpipes decorating the wall along with family crests and framed tartan plaids... The story goes that a Scotsman would sooner sell his wife than his bagpipes so it looked like the fellow who sold his to the Inn had run out of wiles.

HANDSOME Point Lobos Room, second to none in sweeping sea-nery... The Sunset Room, the ceremonial gathering spot to watch the sun settle into the sea... a medieval stone castle straight below, the home of landscape artist William Rischel who painted profusely till the day he died... and off to the left, a tiny weathered cottage clinging to the craggy rocks, the $90,000 retreat of filmstar Kim Novak.

WE SHOPPED, we strolled. We swam and sunned and sat; got in a little golf and lots of leisurely dining. We headed home, in the steady stream of Sunday traffic, serenely content—the highest compliment that can be paid a vacation, however brief.

AND you know what? Maybe it's my new tam o'shanter (Royal Stewart) but that illusion I keep trying to create has come, hoot mon, but a little bit closer...

"Yep, son...triple-yolk eggs are scarce as...us..."

Staff Corner Suburbia, Commuter's Paradise

By CAROL GARDNER

What is the mysterious lure attracting thousands of families from all section of the United States to set up residence in the Orinda-Lafayette-Walnut Creek-Pleasant Hill area?

I've asked myself this question over and over since I recently started working for The Sun. As a new staff member I wanted to learn as much about the area as quickly as possible.

When I checked the census reports on the population changes in this area for the past 23 years, I was amazed by the exuberant growth that has taken place, and still continues adding more and more families to central Contra Costa County suburbia.

There must be a definite reason for this immigration since 1940. The figures are too large to attribute the cause for influx to chance.

IN ADDITION to seeking an answer for my original question, what attracts them to suburbia? I'm looking for an explanation of why they come. In other words, what motivates a family to even come here looking for the lure that makes them want to stay?

While taking part last Friday afternoon in a traffic jam which included hundreds of people bound for this sunny suburban area, I think I discovered some clues leading to a partial answer to these questions.

ABOUT 4:30 p.m. I drove up the ramp from Oak Street in San Francisco to the freeway network with the Bay Bridge turn-off as my immediate goal and Lafayette my destination.

Just as I accelerated to a breezy freeway speed, I caught up with the tail end of one of the worst traffic jams I've ever inched my way through.

Later, I was amazed to learn thousands of suburban commuters choose, of their free will, to endure traffic jams like that several times a week. That's pretty severe punishment for anybody.

THE SIGHT of those cars all jammed up together made me wonder why a man would voluntarily put himself through such an ordeal. I guessed he must want very much to leave San Francisco, and probably he must want even more to get home to his ranch style home under a shady oak tree.

What desire! The suburban commuter acts like a man in love, who is so preoccupied anticipating future pleasures that he's oblivious to what goes on along the way to his sweetheart's house. What else, but love, could make a man sit in such a ridiculous procession after working hard for eight hours.

Probably the majority of the drivers could maintain their composure because they knew they soon would be back with their loved ones—their wives, children, homes, barbecues, swimming pools, and whatever else makes their lives seem worthwhile. What a marvelous thing this love must be that can lure them back from the great city.

Under The Sun Funeral Costs Can Be High--And It's Proven

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

You've all no doubt been reading the recent articles and books on the high cost of dying and the recent trend toward simpler and more economical funerals. Here's a summary of a recent article in the "Wall Street Journal" which seems to hit the nail on the casket.

"The book, Jessica Mitford's The American Way of Death, was published only August 26 but already is in its fourth printing. It attacks the $2-billion-a-year funeral business for assertedly selling elaborate and costly funerals to persons too grief-stricken to demur, and for turning wake and funeral services into what Miss Milford feels are tasteless showy displays.

"The advocates of simpler funerals are increasingly banding together into non-profit funeral and memorial societies.

"Funeral societies, in essence, seek to have the living pre-arrange their final ceremonies so that the choice can be made in a rational rather than emotion-charged atmosphere. For a one-time fee that usually ranges from $5 to $15 per family they keep members' burial instructions on file and line up funeral directors who agree to honor these preferences at a 'reasonable' price. Many funeral societies contract for services with mortuaries, at a discount reflecting the amount of business they can provide.

Memorial Society Methods

"Memorial societies follow about the same procedure, but generally seek to do away with the conventional wake and funeral entirely. They arrange quick and private burial for members, and replace the usual ceremonies with a memorial service held after the shock of loss has subsided. Miss Mitford in her book warmly approves both types of societies; earlier she and her lawyer husband, Robert Truehaft, had helped found the Bay Area Funeral Society in Berkeley, Calif.

"The movement had been growing rapidly before Miss Mitford's book appeared. Ernest Morgan, a director of the Continental Association of Funeral and Memorial Societies in Chicago, says there now are 60 to 70 such groups in the U.S. and Canada, with a total membership of over 100,000. That's roughly five times as many as were enrolled in the 'dozen or so' societies existing in 1958, he says.

"In addition, the ideas of the societies recently have been taken up by a few other groups, notably labor unions worried over the tendency of funeral costs to take most or all of the death benefits they had negotiated to be paid to the families of deceased members.

Any Arrangements Can Be Made

"Though they will arrange any kind of final rites a member specifies, the societies favor simpler services. They suggest members choose plain coffins rather than the fancier types, which can cost up to $15,000 for a hermetically sealed, silver-plated casket of solid bronze. They also seek to eliminate the custom of holding long wakes in which the coffin is left open for viewing of the body, favoring quick closed-coffin burials. This does away with the necessity for embalming, which, contrary to a popular misconception, is not required by law except when a body is to be shipped interstate."

Lucius Beebe in the "Chronicle" adds that California laws make this state the least reasonable place to die, and concludes with this comment:

"For years now California's toughest minded crusading newspaper editors have given up attacks on the burial racket in their state as impervious to denunciation, impossible of reform and tacitly endorsed by public apathy. It is an irony of journalism that the first effective offensive against this monstrous imposition has been launched by a lady author whose rage and contempt bid fair to make the next national convention of undertakers something less jolly than the 'merchandising symposium' it has been to date."

Letters to The Editor

THE JOHN BIRCHERS EDITOR:

Following is the John Birch Society's position on "Civil Rights and the Bill of Rights."

The John Birch Society takes the position that most of the Administration's so-called "Civil Right Program" is in flagrant violation of the Tenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States. The Society emphatically asserts that many actions being taken under the "Civil Rights" banner are a direct threat to both the person and property of every individual American of whatever race, color or creed. The Birch Society takes no position with regard to segregation or integration. It has both segregated and integrated chapters, in accordance with the wishes of its members in their respective communities.

The John Birch Society believes that the serious questions involved in this racial problem should be decided by local or regional authorities, for the smallest practicable areas, and in no case by any unit larger than a state government.

The Federal government is strictly forbidden by the Constitution from either making these decisions or from using military compulsion to enforce them.

The Tenth Amendment is the keystone to our Bill of Rights and it is explicit. Our Constitution could never have been adopted without this guarantee against the very usurpation of power in which the Federal government is now engaged.

The council urges every patriotic American citizen to re-read the Constitution carefully for himself and to enter into a gigantic moral crusade to insist that both spirit and the letter of the Bill of Rights be observed by all public officials. The present course of this Administration, by substituting a government of men for a government of laws, is heading us straight for a bureaucratic dictatorship and tyranny. Our freedom and greatness can be directly traced to this wonderful instrument of protection designed by our forefathers.

W. R. THOMASON, Chapter Leader John Birch Society Walnut Creek.

THANK YOU DEAR EDITOR:

Your very fine cooperation in helping us to publicize the county fair recently held at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Orinda, is greatly appreciated. On behalf of all those who worked towards its success, I would like to say thank you.

Ski Bums' Bargain Paradise

Snow lovers with depleted or outgrown winter wardrobes will be able to dispose of the old and acquire "new" cold-weather gear when Mayten Branch of Children's Hospital of the East Bay offers its Ski Exchange Saturday at the Veterans Hall in Lafayette.

Sellers, of no-longer-needed clothes and equipment, and buyers, intent upon finding good used clothing and skiing paraphernalia at reasonable prices, will be able to accomplish both purposes.

This will be a second-time venture for Mayten which initiated the exchange last year to provide a much-needed community service and, at the same time, benefit youngsters needing medical attention at Children's Hospital of the East Bay.

Poles, skis, clothing, boots, chains, car racks, even boats and campers are wares which will be for sale. Doors will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. All who wish to sell sports equipment may take it to Veterans Hall and, for a small (25c) registration fee, place it for sale. Local sporting goods merchants also will display merchandise.

General chairmen of the Ski Exchange are Mrs. Joseph Janlois and George McKay of Lafayette. A "Just for Fun" event of guessing the number of snowballs in a container is being planned by Mmes. Brant Gard Jr. and William Morrison of Lafayette and Thomas Kling of Orinda. Flyers have been distributed by Mmes. Anthony Yriberri, Walter Ammon and Sam L. Stovall of Orinda, and Mrs. Myron Osmunson of Orinda is in charge of publicity.

Other jobs are in the hands of Mmes. Richard Cox and Robert Stewart of Orinda and Richard Melrose of Lafayette, decorations; Sam L. Stovall, John Everett and Roger Patterson of Orinda, posters, and Harvard Gustafson, Albert Johansson and Ross Mainwaring of Orinda, food.

Admission to the exchange will be 50 cents.

Spectacular "Champagne Fashions," including many cocktail and holiday selections, will be elegantly displayed through the courtesy of "Fashion Flair" of Danville. Jay Jacobus will serve as commentator.

Models will include: Mrs. Lloyd Bradhoff, Danville; Mrs. Don Parle White, Mrs. William Seifert Jr., Mrs. Hugh Lenahan, Mrs. Hugh MacIntyre and Mrs. James MacDonald of Orinda; Mrs. Joseph Villa, El Cerrito, and Mrs. William Higgins of Lafayette.

A showing of period gowns will spark the evening. Mrs. Harold Gunn will wear a pre-Civil War dress. A pink brocade originating from the era of President Fillmore, will be shown by Mrs. B. Bremer.

The 1910 bridal dress of Mrs. D. C. Thompson, also worn by her daughter Mrs. William R. Dorsey, will be shown by Mrs. Harold Hafner. Mrs. Donald Krotz, the newly reelected vice president of the California Federation of Republican Women, will wear the wedding gown of Mrs. Donald Lippin, long a resident of Orinda.

Many gay gatherings will precede the function. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Powell will be hosts in their home for dinner before driving on to the club. The C. M. Fishs and the Challis Gores will share honors entertaining their friends beforehand. Guests will also gather at the William Mord and Ted Haley homes.

Tickets for the Republican fund raising event are still available by calling ticket chairman Mrs. Madison Fowler.

Daughter Honors Mrs. C. Boggini

Mrs. Charles R. Boggini of Albany was guest of honor at a surprise luncheon given for her Wednesday by her daughter Mrs. Alfred Jones of Alamo. Guests included longtime and favorite friends of the honoree.

One And All Will Have A Grand Harvest Ball

The Harvest Ball is coming. And although the moon will be just past its first quarter on the evening of the party, the stars should be out in full splendor to shine October 26, on Castlewood Country Club (the old "Hearst Ranch") near Livermore.

This fall extravaganza, sponsored by the twelve guilds of the John Muir Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, was formerly "An Evening Under the Stars," and usually took place in an outdoor setting. This year, mostly because of the untrustworthy habits of the Contra Costa weatherman at this season, the festivities will be safely staged in the comfortable interior of the club.

Mrs. Donald LeClaire of Lafayette, is chairman of the event. Mrs. William DuBose of Walnut Creek, is her assistant. Both are of Kaweah Guild.

Since Harvest Time through the ages has been the occasion for rustic and rigorous merry making, the theme of this year's party will be an informal one. Whimsical scarecrows, cornucopias bursting with fruit and flowers, straw and corn—all will be part of the decor, to be executed by Mmes. Thurston Perry and Ralph Hanna, both of Yosemite Guild.

Party-goers are expected to appear in anything from fancy cocktail dresses to cottons, long and short. Auxiliary Chairman Mrs. John Hutch will wear a long evening cotton print, while Mrs. Frank E. Young, secretary on the Muir Hospital board of trustees, plans to wear a chrysanthemum yellow chiffon cocktail dress.

Events of the evening will include cocktails, a steak dinner, a J. Magnin fashion show, with newspaper columnist Bill Fiset doing the commentary, dance and music by Gordon Heche's orchestra.

Many auxiliary members and husbands are planning to weekend at the club, with golf games being worked up for the gentlemen on Sunday. Some, if good weather holds out, even intend to swim and play tennis for after-party therapy.

Diehl (sitting) will make a fall fruit basket decoration. Mrs. C. Laird Durham (standing) will add bright chrysanthemums to the gala event.

The list of chairmen includes Mmes. Laird Durham and Ben Tamplin (Ahwahnee Guild), arrangements; Mrs. Sam Burks (Tioga), finance; Mrs. W. H. Shipley (Wawona), secretary; Mmes. Lloyd Kindall and Paul Albright (Glacier), models; Mmes. William Bush (Garnet), H. L. Christman and Arnold Wallis (Tokopah), invitations; Mrs. John H. Barbazette (Sierra), hostesses; Mrs. Thomas Van Voorhis (Tenaya), charity awards;

Mrs. William Diehl (Tioga), table decorations; Mrs. Alan Ory (Tuolumne), table reservations; Mrs. Don Rogers (Wawona), program and favors; Mrs. Frank E. Thomas (Sierra), publicity, and Mrs. Richard Wilson (Mariposa), tickets.

Proceeds from the Harvest Ball will be contributed to the John Muir Hospital building fund.

The hospital is under construction on Ygnacio Valley Road in Walnut Creek. It is scheduled for completion by February, 1965.

Scots Challenge Mats' Title Drive

By HEC HANCOCK

Miramonte, making a strong defense of their first Foothill Athletic League championship, will be shooting for four straight this afternoon when they host dangerous Piedmont Scots.

San Ramon, also undefeated in FAL play, will try to stay on the pace as they take on the always dangerous Acalanes Dons tonight on their home field.

Del Valle travels to Martinez to play the Alhambra Bulldogs in the remaining league action for the weekend.

LAS LOMAS draws the bye this weekend.

Tonight's contest with the Mats is now a "must" game for the Highlanders. Not only can't Piedmont afford the loss, but particularly they can't afford to lose to the Mats. A Miramonte win would mean Miramonte would have a two game lead on the Scots with but two league games left to play.

According to Coach Bob Muenster, Piedmont should be in near top shape for the game. Both Al Pyne, first string quarterback, and Bill Mims, senior guard, will see action after having sat out last week's battle with Las Lomas.

Muenster states "The team attitude is excellent. They're really determined. When Mims and Pyne reported for practice Monday night, it was like a shot in the arm for the squad. We expect a hard hitting, tough game with the Mats."

IN THE EVENT Pyne isn't able to go the full distance this afternoon he will be ably spelled by Don Perkins. The sophomore qb went the full distance last week against Las Lomas and did an outstanding job. Of ten passes, he completed five, with two going for scores. Chances are pretty good that the issue could be settled with the forward pass. Miramonte has demonstrated that in Neal Pearson, they have one of the outstanding passers in the loop.

Pearson's 45-yard pass to Steve Cummings for the winning score last week against Acalanes certainly ranks as one of the outstanding plays of the year. Actually, while the play covered 45 yards, it is estimated that the pass traveled over 50 yards in the air as Pearson had dropped back a considerable distance.

The Mats will use Ron Macario and Bill Cooper to spearhead the ground attack. These two have been the work-horses of the running game.

MUCH OF Miramonte's success can be attributed to their hard nosed defensive group.

Last week, the Dons were able to move for yardage fairly well in the middle of the field. But when the action moved closer to the goal line, the Miramonte forwards shut the door on the Acalanes attack.

Butch Workman and Tevis Thompson, tackles, were particularly outstanding. Pete Boyle, not expected to play last weekend, turned in a great game.

San Ramon is favored to pick up win number three tonight when they face the Acalanes Dons. Acalanes, who has played to hard luck this year will come into the contest minus several key players due to injuries.

ON THE OTHER hand, the Lobos appear to have their game rolling in high gear. Hampered somewhat by the early season loss of Mike Skinner, the Wolves appear to have found an able replacement in Jim Parker. Last week against Del Valle, Parker rambled 52 yards for the clinching touchdown.

The Dons will be without the services of their outstanding defensive wingback, Frank Colwell, for the rest of the season.

Colwell cracked three ribs in the Miramonte encounter.

Compounding the Dons' problems, end Bob Siefker will also be on the sidelines due to a strep throat. Jim Carver, senior guard, was down earlier in the week, and is considered doubtful for this evening.

Filling the spot vacated by Colwell, however, is the biggest headache confronting Coach George Cockerton. Several have been tried in the spot. Tentatively, Cockerton is planning to give Bob Brabant a shot at the spot.

COCKERTON went on to say, "We are going with Al Bartolozzi in the tailback spot again this week. We thought he looked pretty good overall last week. He missed a couple of holes, but it is hard to spot your running lanes sometimes in this type of formation."

The Dons are a hard hitting outfit, and deserve a better fate than what they have received thus far.

Del Valle will try to add win number two at the expense of Alhambra. After upsetting Las Lomas, the Trojans have narrowly missed adding a pair of wins to be right in contention.

With Vic Shellenberger leading the way, the Trojans turned in their best football of the season in the second half last week against San Ramon. The line blocking looked great, lacking outstanding team speed, the backs moved for good yardage.

THE BIG PROBLEM in facing the Bulldogs will be containing the passing of Paul Waite. Coupled with sophomore Bill Boyd, Alhambra has demonstrated they can score from anyplace on the field.

They have had defensive problems thus far this year, but in their last outing two weeks ago, gave San Ramon plenty of problems.

Fur, Fin & Feather

Fish--Fish--Nothing But Fish! Go With That Rod

By George R. White

Long's Bait Shop—San Pablo—linesides chow has moved outside the gate and fishermen are using cut bait. Berk. Flats to the race track and Pt. Isabel, also up 'round Rodeo . . . salmon is spotty but the rock fishermen are doing good reports the "Blue Spirit" 'round Pt. Reyes.

Don's Bait Shop—Clear Lake Highlands—crappie and cats doing O.K. . . black bass a bit slow, last Friday though a smart guy hauled out a 6 pound 14 oz. bass and the rest of his limit ran 4 to 5 pounds.

Davis' Lake Resort—Lake Alhambra—no reason why the fishing shouldn't be good now, temperature last Saturday was 27 above . . . it won't stay that way long, hard to give a fish report as the area has been loaded with hunters, opening day was successful for a lot . . . ducks are open up there now and Mtn. Meadow Res. should be real good with the tules and all.

The San Lorenzo Riv. in Santa Cruz County has just been stocked with 1400 young steelhead weighing a quarter of a pound apiece, but anglers can't try for 'em 'til at least Dec. 1st. Now, as I see by a story in F & G's "Outdoor California" quite a few streams in Santa Cruz County to this date have been cleared of a lot of log jams. Youth Authority wards from Ben Lomond Youth Conservation Camps did the work. The total cost of this program in this county was $22,000, all but $8000 provided by the Wildlife Conservation Board.

Dear Readers: If you will look at last week's column, you will take note that my deer hunting trip to the Sierras was a flop. Did my editor—Terry Hansen—bawl me out. NO! All he did was to slip a picture of a bow hunter with his buck in the lower left hand corner of the page. Gee, this is a nice place to work. 4 1/2% 1/2% (Was the picture a hint, boss??)

A NOTE from the Mother Lode Gun Club mentions that on Oct. 20th they will have a .30 caliber match starting at 9 a.m. sharp at their range. Also right after this match there will be a running deer shoot. So come one, come all.

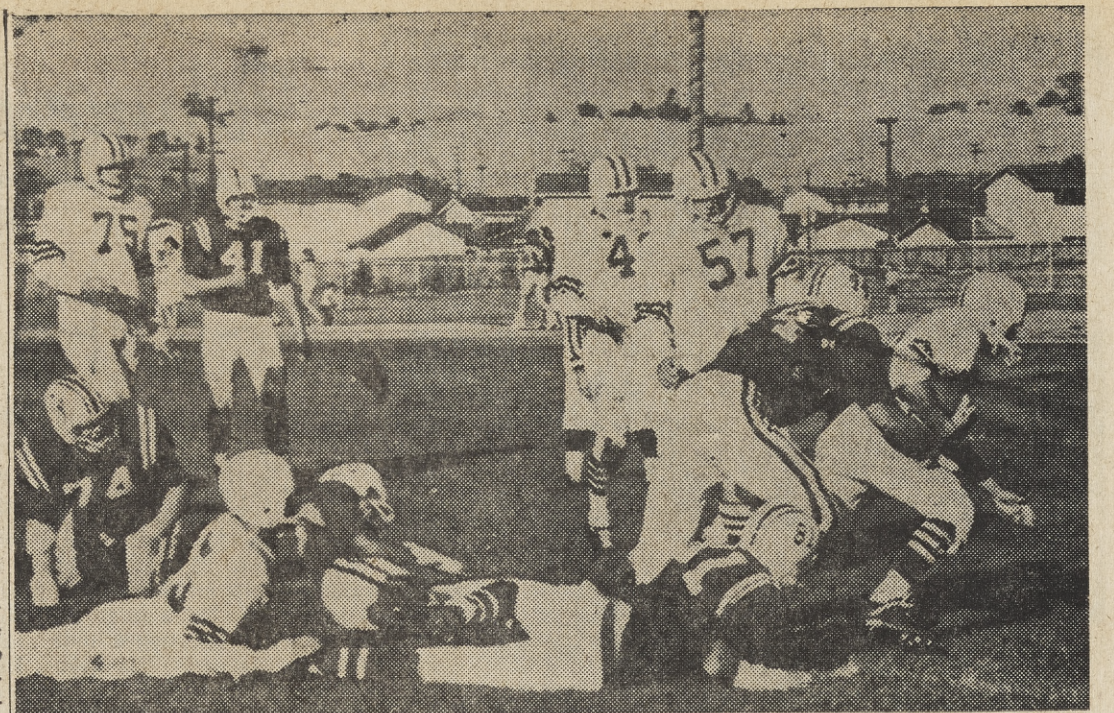

NOW IS THE best time of the fishing year to chase Black Bass. When the water temperature drops from the high 80's and 70's to between 65 and 70 degrees is the time. Just when this happens is hard to pinpoint.

You'll have to do as I do. Take short runs to nearby lakes until they start hitting. Now last weekend I was up to Lake Hennessy—Conn Dam and was on the lake for about three hours without narry a strike. This happens. Water was awful warm. Start casting with the surface gear early in the morning, then switch to shallow lures, then a bit later change to deep running gear. If you don't get a strike after changing lures several times, move on. They gotta be somewhere. On your surface gear, color don't mean much, as the fish see only the bottom of your lure, not the top as many suppose. It's your under-water gear that the color makes a difference. About this time the bass will be putting on the feed bag but good, so try minnow lures a lot. It's a long winter. Lures with a lot of action will do a lot of good. As for finishes for your under-water gear, get natural ones that look like something the fish would normally eat. This makes a big difference to them you wouldn't eat a purple cake would you? A chocolate one would be more to your taste. Take a hint.

Our good state has joined an exclusive club! A Rifle Club Citation was awarded to the State of California for training its 250,000th Jr. hunter. This was awarded in recognition of the state's major contribution to safety thru training. A law was passed during this 1963 session to the effect that: as of July 1, 1964 ALL youngsters under the age of 18 MUST pass the Jr. Hunter Safety course and possess a Certificate of Competency to that effect. Only two states have qualified for the above award—New York and California.

Deer season will end soon, but bear will run a bit longer. However hunters, it is noted have good eye-sight for their quarry, but when it comes to filling out the tags and getting them validated, they flop. So notes F&G. Many violations have been recorded. ALL instructions are plainly printed on the tags. So there is no excuse for not following instructions to the letter. Come fellas, we can do better than that.

CCD Roundup

Falcons Face Hot Rams

The clash of neighboring rivals, Pleasant Hill and College Park, tonight on the Rams' lot draws top billing in the Contra Costa Division of the DVAL.

This afternoon will find the determined young Ygnacio Valley Warriors invading Clayton Valley, both clubs seeking their first CCD win.

At the other end of the county, Pittsburg and Antioch have at it in their annual titanic. Pacifica invades Concord to engage Mt. Diablo to round out the night's slate.

PLEASANT HILL, which has shown steady improvement, will endeavor to throw a crimp in College Park's title aspirations.

The Rams came off a strong showing last week against Mt. Diablo, and figure to be in the best shape physically that they have been in recent weeks.

Tim Conger and Frank Brazeal, halfbacks, out of the Diablo tussle, have been working out with the team this week. Also set to rejoin the team is Jenkins in the line.

Coach Hal Briggs reports that he was greatly pleased with the job his club turned in against Mt. Diablo. "We set our defenses to stop Diablo's halfbacks, Mike Schomaker and Dennis Jones. We stopped them cold, but fullbacks John Batiste and Glenn Grober killed us up the middle. Of the 159 yards the Devils made on the ground, Grober accounted for 127 and Batiste the rest," the Ram mentor commented.

BRIGGS added, "Norm Tosh, a junior tackle, did a fantastic job for us. Lonnie Riggs and Dave Grey have also played fine ball."

"We think we can give the Falcons a good game. However, it'll be difficult to contain their explosiveness."

College Park will also be in near top shape. Tom Day, the only ailing member of the Falcons, has rejoined the club. "We know we're in for a good, hard hitting game with the Rams," stated College Park coach R. V. Johnson.

JOHNSON goes on to say, "They have some excellent boys. Their passer, John Dotson, has a fine touch. Pete Caruso is a fine end. Make a mistake against this club and they'll beat you."

Jack Chaney, who had a field day last week against Clayton Valley, rolling up 184 yards in 15 carries, was voted the Prep of the Week by the prep football writers.

Chaney is the second Falcon to be accorded the honor, Dick Larscheid having been tabbed earlier in the season.

While the Falcons' backs have grabbed most of the attention, their front wall is beginning to receive some of the acknowledgement due them.

HEADED UP by Jerry Cook, Bob Snook, Tim Doria, Tom Day and Boger, the line average runs well over 200 pounds. Out at Ygnacio, the Warriors are licking their wounds from last week's fracas with Antioch. Warrior mentor Dick Ryan reports, "Antioch was big and tough. Our bunch are pretty well banged up. We expect everybody will be ready to go, but probably not at top speed."

Ryan adds, "Clayton hasn't won this year, so they'll be up for us to get in the win column." This afternoon's contest will mark the first meeting of the neighboring schools in what should become one of the top rivalries in the area.

Dee's Rebs Notch Fourth Straight League Win

Dee's Rebels, the Pleasant Hill entry in the Winter League, will be looking for their fifth consecutive win of the fall season when they cross bats Sunday with the Fitzpatrick 45 Colts at the Pittsburg City Park, Sunday, 1:30 p.m.

Last Sunday, Dee's Rebs turned back the Richmond Ramblers, 3-1, to keep their undefeated record intact.

After four scoreless innings, the Rebs rallied in the fourth frame for two big runs. Larry Steele led off with a single. Ben Reniker, batting for starting hurler Gary Holt, singled, driving in Steele with the game's first tally.

Al Lakeman kept things going, ripping out a single to drive the second run of the inning across the plate. This closed out the scoring, as Reb base running resulted in the final two outs.

In the seventh, Dee's picked up an insurance run as Bob Serra doubled, scoring Gary Hansen.

The Ramblers' lone run came in the fourth when they bunched four little bleeders just over the infielders' heads together.

Reniker, who came in to spell Holt, got credit for the victory. In all, Holt and Reniker combined to limit the Richmond club to seven hits.

While Dee's Rebs collected 11 safeties, they had trouble coming up with the big hit, as the fact they left 18 men stranded on the bases will attest.

The entry for Sunday's game will find Bud Nelson on the mound, with Dan Barney behind the plate.

Mrs. Dana Wins Diablo CC Golf

Mrs. Jack Dana carded a 92-21-71 to capture first place in the Class A division of the Diablo Women's group weekly tourney.

Mrs. Mike Pavlina, 84-11-73, was the second place finisher. Mrs. Frank Clemenag, 91-17-74, Mrs. Fred Alexanderson, 92-18-74, and Mrs. Charles Stimpson, 89-15-74, shared third place.

First place in Class B went to Mrs. William Peck, 101-26-75, and Mrs. Gordon Van Nuys, 97-22-75. A tie also developed for second place between Mrs. J. W. Zimmerman, 102-26-76, and Mrs. Boone Robinson, 102-26-76. A three way split of the third place included Mrs. Art Brunkhorst, 99-22-77, Mrs. Gordon Gianelli, 100-23-77, and Mrs. Edward Sterling, 103-26-77.

Mrs. Fletcher White was the winner in Class C play with 108-35-73. Second place went to Mrs. David White, 108-33-75. Mrs. Lucille Armstrong, 102-27-77, was third, and Mrs. James Prince, 105-29-76, fourth.

... By Hec!

IT'S GOOD!—Ron Hudson's place kick is good to provide Miramonte the margin of victory in their 7-6 win over Acalanes. Don defenders are: Dick Van Loben Sels (71), Dave Toll (75), Al Bartolozzi (30) and Phil Gilmour (23). Other Miramonte players include Steve Brush (60) and blocking, Bill Cooper (33). —Sun photo

Mats Get By PAT

Miramonte will strive to maintain their Foothill Athletic League lead this afternoon when they host the once defeated Piedmont Highlanders at Orinda.

Last week, the Mats hung on to turn back Acalanes, 7-6, having grabbed the lead with a 45-yard aerial from Neal Pearson to Steve Cummings. Ron Hudson's kick sent the upstarts to account for the one point margin of victory.

After a quick exchange of touchdowns in the first quarter, Acalanes came back in the second half to mount several unsuccessful drives. A last minute field goal attempt by Bob Strain of the Dons was wide, as the Acalanes' bid for the first FAL win of the year fell short.

ACALANES drew first blood after Bob Brabant had set the scoring thrust up with a 69-yard ramble to the six yard line. Brabant had boomed off tackle, breaking into the secondary, and then streaking down the sidelines before he could be overhauled by Mike Rhoda. Three plays later, Al Bartolozzi bore under a big pile-up to score from the two-yard line. The attempt for the PAT, which was to take on great significance, was wide of the mark.

Ron Maccario of the Mats carried the kickoff back to the 34-yard line. From this point with Bill Cooper and Maccario carrying the brunt of the work, the Mats moved to the Don's 45-yard line.

On second down, Neal Pearson, Mat qb, faded back and tossed a 45-yard strike to the speeding Steve Cummings on the ten-yard line who went on in untouched for the score. The Mats made good on their PAT attempt to account for the win.

While there wasn't any further scoring, the Dons' mounted a number of unsuccessful drives. With just seconds left in the first half Acalanes had driven to the Miramonte 10-yard mark, only to have a Tom Alexander pass broken up by Bill Cooper.

THE DONS pretty much dominated play after the intermission. With Alexander spearheading the march with fine use of the option play, Acalanes moved to the eight-yard line. Here they were set back by a 15-yard penalty.

Shortly thereafter, the Mats' Jay Grilli was forced to run on a fourth down kicking situation, Acalanes taking over at the 25-yard line. This Don threat was repelled by the Mats at the four.

A last Don march stalled on the 11-yard line, and Strain's attempted field goal was wide. Coach George Cockerton felt his charges had played fine ball in the hard knocking game, could have won, "Miramonte is a hard knocking team, we lack backfield speed, so have to chew it out small chunks at a time. When we make mistakes, or are penalized, it really hurts," remarked the Don mentor.

Trojans Victims In Lobo Drive For FAL Lead

Del Valle will try to even its league record at 2-2 tonight against the Alhambra Bulldogs in Martinez, following last week's 13-6 loss to San Ramon.

"We played a fine second half," commented coach Forrest Russell on last week's contest.

RUSSELL noted two fumbles within the Wolves' ten-yard line that halted Trojan drives. San Ramon scored in the first quarter on a 35-yard pass play. Though the Wolves moved the ball at will during the first two periods, they couldn't take advantage of three other scoring opportunities.

The 7-0 lead stood up until the last three minutes of the game when Vic Shellenberg threw a fourth-down TD pass to end Brian Frank.

Shellenberg's conversion attempt hit the crossbar and fell short to leave Del Valle a point behind.

In an attempt to regain possession the Trojans threw a goal line defense against San Ramon. Wolf back Jim Parker got past the Del Valle line and scampered 55 unmoled yards for the score.

STILL FIGHTING, the Trojans drove deep into the visitors' territory on Bill Main's kickoff return and a pass interference penalty.

But San Ramon intercepted a Bruce Black pass to end the threat.

The Wolves outgained Del Valle, 187-142.

RUSSELL stated that Alhambra will try to "pass us to death."

"They are a fine team," he commented, "and if they score enough they can beat you."

The Bulldogs, idle last week, were narrowly defeated by San Ramon, 19-13, in the final 30 seconds two weeks ago.

Izaak Waltonites Hear Dr. Sweet

Dr. Joe G. Sweet of Oakland, a national trustee of Ducks Unlimited and a well known authority on waterfowl, will speak before the Diablo Chapter of the Izaak Walton League of America on Thursday, October 24 at 8 p.m. The meeting will be held in the P.G.&E. auditorium in Walnut Creek.

His subject will be, "The Future of Duck Hunting in California." This is a critical problem now with many duck breeding, feeding and resting grounds being drained for agricultural purposes, industrial developments or other purposes.

The transfer of water across the Delta under the State Water Plan plus the spraying of pesticides, are posing parallel serious problems for maintenance of duck populations on the Pacific flyway.

Dr. Sweet's talk coinciding with the opening of the duck hunting season should prove of much interest to the many duck hunters in this area.

Logan-Govan Race Favorites

Concord's Rich Govan and Dave Logan will be favored in Saturday night's special 300-lap hardtop main event at Vallejo Speedway.

Govan won his fifth main event last Saturday night to clinch eighth place in the Bay Cities Racing Association championships while Logan already was assured of second place behind new champion Leroy Geving of Santa Rosa.

Main contenders with Govan, Logan and Geving Saturday night include Ray Kelsay, Santa Rosa; Julian Castor, San Francisco, and "Crazy Wheels" Wally Baker of Sacramento. Time trials start at 7:30 p.m. with the first heat scheduled for 8:30 p.m.

Mrs. Freeman Wins Orinda CC Golf

Orinda Country Club's Nine Hole Eclectic Class A play was won by Mrs. Miller Freeman, 36-8-28.

Trailing the winner by a half stroke was Mrs. W. M. Jeffrey, 38-9-28½. Mrs. W. M. Jaekle, 39-8-30½, was third.

Mrs. D. L. Kelley, 41-12½-28½, was the Class B winner. Class C was won by Mrs. Harry Martin, 42-14-28.

Carlsen Scores Two TD's As Knights Dump Scots

Having been upset last week by the revived Las Lomas Knights, 15-12, Piedmont will be fighting for their league life when they tangle with Miramonte this afternoon.

The Knights struck via the air-planes for two first half touchdowns, then relied on their tough defensive unit to successfully throttle the Highlander attack for the balance of the game.

The Knights racked up their first score late in the first quarter. Taking over on the 41-yard line, Las Lomas moved for the first score in 10 plays.

THE SCORE came on a swing pass from Mike McGinnis to halfback Don Carlsen. Carlsen took the short pass on the five yard line and sailed into the end zone. The PAT attempt wasn't good.

Piedmont, with sophomore

Don Perkins filling for injured Al Pyne, took the kickoff and mounted a 70-yard sustained march for the equalizer. The score came on a perfectly thrown 24-yard pass from Perkins to end Bob Ingalls. After Neal Trebotich's initial PAT effort was nullified by a 15-yard penalty, the second attempt failed, leaving the team tied at 6-6.

Las Lomas got on the scoreboard again just seconds before the half ended. After a 15-yard penalty had apparently frustrated a 60-yard drive which had found McGinnis scotching into the end zone only to have the play whistled back, the Knights scored. Pete Breuleux found Carlsen clear in the flat, and for the second time, the senior back boomed into the end zone. This time Randy Brannum split the uprights with his conversion attempt.

In the fourth quarter, Piedmont received a break when they took over on downs on the Knight 28-yard line when Las Lomas didn't get their kick away.

THE TOUCHDOWN came on another aerial from Perkins to Ingalls, this one going for 39 yards. Again the PAT failed.

Late in the game, Bill Staley tackled Perkins in the Clan end zone for a two pointer as the Scots desperately tried to get off a long gainer.

Coach Duane Louis reported "Our bunch played a real fine game. Bill Staley was great on defense. Also Norm Bowen and Dave Burand were outstanding. Piedmont is a well coached, tough team."

Obviously disappointed, Piedmont mentor Bob Muenster, remarked: "We made too many mistakes to win the game. However, I think we learned a lot from the game. Nobody is going through the season undefeated in this league, so we figure we're still right in the race."

At this point the scoreboard read Greg O'Neill 16, DVC 0.

Taking a punt midway through the second period, the Vikings got their offense going and marched all the way for the score. Dave Shepherd, former Pleasant Hill Ram, banged in for the score.

Diablo fell behind by a 22-6 count in the third stanza when San Mateo's Gene Scattini hit Bill Poulos with a 12-yard pass for a TD.

IN THE FOURTH quarter, Dave Dyer passed to Bob Fredricks for a TD after a fumble recovery had set up the scoring opportunity. The try for the two-point PAT failed, and eventually meant the difference between a loss and a tie.

With two minutes left on the clock, Dyer passed to ex-Las Lomas Knight Bob Nordeman with a 35-yard pass, the play covering 70 yards for the score. Dean Hilger, formerly of Miramonte, banged in for the two-pointer.

Need Discussion On Finances, Hough Street

"All hurdles have been cleared toward Lafayette incorporation except for obtaining more signatures to put it on the ballot," Art Robson said recently. Robson made the statement at a meeting of proponents of incorporation held at the Home Builders Association Building on Mt. Diablo Boulevard, chaired by Mrs. William Gordon, president of the Lafayette Downtown Property Owners Association. ROBSON, legal advisor to the proponents, said about 40 signatures have been obtained and the need at least 167. This means one of every four property owners within the proposed city boundaries must sign the petition. They must own property which, without considering buildings, is appraised at least one-fourth the total assessed valuation. "Since there are 663 parcels of land in the area proposed and an assessed valuation of $2,599,000, the 167 signers should own $49,788 worth of land," Mrs. Gordon pointed out. A PRIMARY TOPIC at the meeting was the question of taxes. Local real estate broker Ted Barcelona said even though the city of Pleasant Hill has operated without any tax, people just do not understand where the money comes from. "Our experience with the last attempt at incorporation showed that people are so used to paying hidden taxes they have blocked them off from their minds.

"WE JUST COULD not explain subvention support of a city to the majority of the people," he commented.

M. H. Stanley agreed this and other doubts about the budget seemed to be the items that caused the overwhelming defeat of incorporation in 1958.

"WE SHOULD point out that for most of the area within the boundaries there could not be a tax increase of more than 11 cents per $100 of assessed valuation," Stanley said.

A BUDGET showing very high expenditures in all areas, and particularly for police, should be used in the platform for incorporation, according to Attorney James Ring. "Last time, the amount suggested for police was so low the people just couldn't swallow the proposed budget," he said.

A door-to-door campaign was stressed by the group. Tony Lagiss, local businessman, offered to direct the preparation of literature to be used.

ACCORDING TO Lagiss, "The important thing is to have someone who will take the time and interest to answer individual questions of each voter. The question of local control poses different questions to each person."

Action will start immediately in the following areas, the group concluded:

A big owners signature campaign to complete the final petition.

A campaign brochure will be prepared within three weeks, setting forth the mathematics of incorporation as simply as possible. It should over-estimate all expenses to eliminate all controversies.

A door-to-door petition signature campaign should be held on the first weekend after the brochure is ready.

A DEFINITE stand on the

Airman Aboard Kearsarge

John P. Greer, airman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Greer of 396 Read Drive, is serving aboard the antisubmarine aircraft carrier USS Kearsarge, which recently spent several days in Kabodate, a small Japanese port rarely visited by U.S. ships.

Kearsarge is presently deployed with the Seventh Fleet in the Far East. Currently on her eighth Far East cruise, Kearsarge joined the Seventh Fleet in June.

widening of Hough Street should be taken soon. The possibility of widening the street once a city is in existence seems to have provided the only opposition to incorporation so far, proponents said.

Laymen's Sunday To Be Noted Over Entire Country

"Sunday will be observed as laymen's Sunday by thousands of congregations throughout the country," reminds Dr. Phillip J. Daunton, executive director of the Council of Churches of Central Contra Costa County.

Theme of the National Council of Churches-sponsored observances, "Your Neighbor as Yourself," is designed to encourage laymen to rededicate themselves to their Christian responsibilities and respond with "understanding and compassion to the needs of neighbors around the world."

A statement to be read from pulpits is authored by National Council president J. Irwin Miller. In his message, Miller himself a Disciples layman, reminds churchmen that the first Christians were laymen, whom "our Lord made into disciples and apostles."

From its beginning the Christian faith has exerted a transforming force "upon the divisions of the world, reconciling them through and in Christ," his message states. "Nothing less is the mission of the individual Christian and the corporate Christian Church in today's turbulent world."

In the message Miller, who is chairman of the Cummins Engine Company, Columbus, Indiana, cited newly developing nations and "probes into outer space as symptoms of the revolutionary aspects of the present world."

"Nations sponsor arms races and speak of survival at a time when the life span is longer than ever before. Human need lives next door to material plenty. Science and technology churn in their wake human problems faster than we recognize them, to say nothing of solving them," according to the message.

Observances of laymen's Sunday is traditionally marked throughout the nation with laymen replacing their preacher in the pulpit. Dr. Don Calame, director of United Church Men, a general department of the council, said the "observance is meant to be symbolic of the present-day partnership between clergy and laymen who realize that they, too, are the church and are responsible for its ministry."

Acalanes Dist. Schools Expand List Of Courses

"Local high schools are offering an expanded list of learning opportunities for students with varying interests and abilities," Acalanes Union High School District Superintendent Neil M. Parsons disclosed in reviewing a survey of courses for "accelerated, middle-ability and slow-learners" in the Acalanes District.

Parsons stated that the "extended learning opportunities cover classes in math, science, reading and other subject areas where the courses are specifically designed for a student who is 'able' or for the student with learning problems."

COMMENTING ON the expanding course list, assistant superintendent for instruction Leland Russell explained, "For instance, in mathematics accelerated students are taking a course in mathematical analysis. The course covers topics such as 'mathematical log,' 'Binary Relations,' 'Polar Coordinates' and similar topics. The class is taught at Las Lomas with four students from Del Valle also participating."

"One of the reasons for advanced math courses is the fact that the elementary districts within the Acalanes district offer algebra for capable students at the eighth grade. This enables the secondary schools to provide an additional year of math for high ability students who have continued their interest in math subjects through the 12th grade. As more of these students enter their senior year, each of the district's high schools will offer this type of extended learning opportunity."

"ADVANCED opportunities in science education are possible because of similar circumstances. 'Advanced Biology' is one of the science courses that fits the able science student's interests. Additional math and science exposure is gained through the year-long Acalanes district science seminars."

Russell went on to point out that "With foreign language training now beginning at the sixth grade or lower in elementary schools, local high schools are extending learning opportunities in this field. Students may take more of a foreign language or study two languages instead of one. In high school, they have the advantage of learning through proven modern language instruction techniques with the assistance of full-equipped language laboratories."

Superintendent Parsons observed, "As opportunities are expanded for accelerated students, programs are also being provided the student with learning problems. Special courses in math, English and reading and other subject fields are focusing on the slow-learner's problems."

"INDIVIDUAL counseling and guidance services, particularly the services provided to encourage academic performance, are used to help tailor the school program to each student's needs as closely as possible."

Parsons explained that "High schools are working on both ends of the spectrum—helping pupils with special abilities go as far as they can and assisting slow-learners to reach their best potential. At the same time, we are pursuing the emphasis required to insure the bulk of the student population, those in the middle, a sound educational opportunity. Those in the middle ability range are the largest bulk of the enrollment."

IN CONNECTION with middle-ability learners programs, Russell pointed out, "English teachers in the district have completed an initial report designed to stimulate writing and reading instruction for all students at all levels of ability. All students, accelerated, middle and slower ability take courses in shops and crafts,

Industry Queen To Be Chosen At Forty Et Eight

Thirty-eight candidates are actively participating in the Queen of Industry program produced by Contra Costa County 40 et 8 Society.

These working women have qualified for the second consecutive week in their efforts to raise funds for various child welfare activities and training student nurses under the auspices of the 40 et 8 (honor group of the American Legion) for the two purposes only.

WORKING women are chosen from various places of business and industry on the basis of personality and industriousness to participate in the program.

All candidates are required to meet a specific goal in order to remain in the program for the first three weeks.

The candidate raising the most funds through the sale of vote tickets will be crowned Queen of Industry. Each ticket is a donation to the benefit, gives the purchaser an opportunity to win one of eight door prizes. Two of these vote tickets will be honored for admission to the Coronation Ball.

Termination of the program will be Oct. 26 when the queen will be crowned and prizes and trophies awarded at a coronation show and grand ball being held at the Elks Club ballroom in Walnut Creek. Frank Bach and his popular orchestra will be featured.

THE QUEEN will be awarded a trip to Honolulu for two or a $500 savings bond. Awards will be given for second, third and fourth place runner-ups in the form of savings bonds. All four winners will be presented trophies and the winners' place of employment will be given a permanent plaque.

George Clarke of Pleasant Hill emphasized, "This is not a beauty contest. Candidates are selected on the basis of personality and industriousness, and for their humane qualities that make them outstanding women and good candidates in the Queen of Industry benefit."

Acalanes Dist. Studies Site Utilization

Acalanes Union High School District superintendent Neil M. Parsons told board members this week the district is continuing a potential site utilization of PG&E Bear Creek property in north Orinda.

SITE UTILIZATION is complicated by the existence of high power lines and easements over the property. Parsons stated the district architect is working on a site plan to determine if 41.5 or at least 39 acres could be used for a high school without moving the existing power lines.

An earlier study by PG&E placed the cost of shifting the power lines at $100,000. If the site were chosen, a school would not be built for several years. This week Acalanes district trustees also noted receipt of communications from State Department of Education Superintendent Max Rafferty.

Rafferty encouraged smaller class sizes in the school systems of California, noting that the state ranks 44th, sixth from worst, on having large-sized classes.

RAFFERTY also notified local boards that his department is preparing a teaching unit on the relationship of cigarettes to deadly diseases. The unit is to be sent to local school systems.

FLASH PHOTOS

If your camera has been idle and you plan to take flash pictures, work the shutter a few times before inserting film and bulb. This will help clean the flash contacts for better synchronization. And be sure the batteries are up to strength—weak batteries cause 90 per cent of flash failures.

Calif. Congress Of Parents And Teachers Meet

The California Congress of Parents and Teachers will sponsor a legislative conference October 28 at 4 p.m. The participants at this conference will include Senator George Miller Jr., Assemblyman Jerome Waldie, Assemblyman John Knox, C.C.P.T. Legislative Chairman Mrs. Doyle Hoffman, C.C.P.T. Legislative Chairman, Mrs. Malcolm H. Finley, and Moderator Mrs. Robley Berry.

The subjects for discussion will include academic freedom, school finance, and social welfare board. Parents, teachers, administrators, or anyone interested in learning more about the legislative picture, what the future holds, and how it can be changed, are encouraged to attend and participate. Those planning to attend are requested to contact Mrs. Karl Hinkle, 2101 Alpha Way, Antioch.

Checks are to be made payable to the 32nd District, C.C.P.T. with a note on the bottom indicating the school you represent.

ANIMAL LOOK-OUT

Animals frequently wander onto the road in open range areas, which at night is particularly hazardous because they are easily blinded by headlights. Don't follow the animal with your eyes. Keep your eyes on the road to avoid other animals which may be on the heels of the first.

Briefing Meets Scheduled By GOP Committee

The Contra Costa County Republican Central Committee will sponsor a series of three "GOP Briefing Sessions" featuring a state assemblyman, state senator and U.S. congressman.

Speaking will be state Senator John F. McCarthy, Wednesday; Assemblyman Don Mulford, November 13, and on December 11, a GOP congressman, as yet undetermined.

Each of the state legislators will cover his particular branch of the legislature in the last meeting. The congressman will cover the current session of Congress.

The sessions will be held at the Concord Inn, the entire series costing $3. Individual sessions are $1.50. All of the sessions are on Wednesday evenings starting promptly at 8 o'clock.

Norm Passur, Walnut Creek, who is handling the sessions, has stated, "We have reserved a large room which will hold 500 persons, and we expect a heavy turnout. I urge interested persons to buy their tickets now."

Tickets are available by calling Republican Headquarters, 284-4096, or Jack Pedder, 284-4614. Also, all Republican Women's Clubs will be distributing tickets.

SEAT BELTS

You'll keep that seat belt fastened if your car is equipped with a new "electronic watchdog" device manufactured by a St. Paul, Minn., firm. The control is electronically interlocked with the car's ignition so the engine cannot start unless the belt is in place around the driver.

Vets Reselling GI Homes Not Liable, Says VA

Contra Costa County Service Officer William R. Smaker today said that former holders of Cal-Vet contracts are not liable for delinquencies on the part of purchasers to whom their home has been sold. They are automatically released from such liability when they sell their home.

"However," said Smaker, "a veteran selling a home bought through a 'GI loan' would do well to notify the VA and apply for release of their personal liability."

Smaker pointed out that there was an increasing number of cases in which veterans, transferring to California from out of state, have sold their GI financed homes without bothering to get clearance, only to find a later buyer has failed to meet the obligations.

"Under the law," Smaker pointed out, "the veteran is liable for debts on the property unless specifically cleared with the VA."

Adult Workers Will Attend Scout Council

Forty adult Scouts of the San Francisco Bay Girl Scout Council will attend the national council meeting for the Girl Scouts of the United States of America in Miami Beach next week.

Among them will be Mesdames Kenneth Hallstone and Robert Love of Lafayette, Edward Winthers of Orinda, Colbert Davis of Walnut Creek and Harold Martin of Danville.

These delegates will give a report on the National Council meeting at local neighborhood meetings early in November.

CC Heart Group Names Speakers

Members of the Speakers Bureau of the Contra Costa County Heart Association are available for speaking engagements at club and organization meetings according to an announcement by Dr. Arthur P. Danzig, Walnut Creek, chairman of the Bureau.

"Volunteer physician speakers will bring to groups helpful, hopeful information about heart attacks, strokes and other heart conditions," Dr. Danzig said. "Films and literature are also available."

Personnel of the Speakers Bureau include Drs. W. James El-red, John A. Knowles and Peter Kunkel, Pleasant Hill; Drs. Marvin A. Epstein, Frederick Pellegrini, Paul Weber and Eugene B. Whitney, Walnut Creek;

Drs. Irving Fien, Richard Irvine and John E. Mason, Concord; Dr. James F. Embick, C. J. Pertuit and Elizabeth Andrews, Richmond; and Dr. Frederick Epstein, El Cerrito.

Arrangements for scheduling of speakers may be made by calling the Contra Costa County Heart Association office, 1541 East Street, Walnut Creek.

Not So Good At Handling The Wheel? Read On

A new class in driver education for adults will begin Monday in Room 107, at Pleasant Hill High School.

The class will meet on Mondays and Wednesdays, from 7 to 10 p.m., and will include instruction in the mechanical features of the automobile, approved driving practices, responsibilities of the car owner, California Vehicle Code, basic ordinances, and behind-the-wheel training in dual-control cars.

Interested adults may register at the Adult Education Office,

Rezoning Trial Set For Dec. 17

December 17 has been set for trial of a suit brought by Lafayette improvement associations against the Board of Supervisors to invalidate rezoning of 38 acres of land in Lafayette.

Developer E. P. Soule won the rezoning, which would permit construction of apartments on the land. The improvement associations allege the rezoning is not in keeping with the general plan for Lafayette.

Mt. Diablo High School, 2450 Grant Street, Concord, or at the first meeting of the class on Monday.

Racial Pot Boils, Says Attorney

There aren't more than a dozen Negro families in the Central County area but in Richmond and Pittsburg "the pot is boiling and the lid could come off any time."

Such was the statement made this week by H. Le Roy Cannon, an attorney for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored Persons who has filed housing bias suit in Superior Court against some realtors.

And more are pending, Cannon promised.

OF THE COUNTY'S civil rights program, the NAACP attorney said gains have been made in employment and education but none in housing.

"Many residential areas in some cities are now open to all minority groups except the Negro," Cannon said.

The Pittsburg attorney who has been interested in civil rights since the end of World War II—"I saw a store sign saying 'Niggers Go Home'—emphatically denied that the Negro wants inter-racial marriage.

"THAT'S UTTERLY stupid," he said. "The Negro has had a rediscovery of race pride that he never had before."

Cannon, acting in behalf of the NAACP, filed $25,000 suits each against two Pittsburg realty firms alleging they refused to accept offers of purchase from a Negro couple.

TRANSPORTATION

Seven out of 10 employed persons in the United States use their automobiles to get to work, reports the National Automobile Club.

Business And Industrial Club Reestablished

Resumption of the annual Business and Industrial Outlook Symposium will be discussed by directors of the Contra Costa County Development Association at their monthly meeting Tuesday night, according to J. O. Fries, president.

The day-long industrial conferences, which drew upward of 200 attendance during the three years they were held, were discontinued two years ago. A special events committee, headed by J. B. Towne, Martinez banker, will report on the symposium proposal.

Wyman Riley, managing editor of the Vallejo Times Herald-News Chronicle, has been invited to speak in observance of National Newspaper Week.

The association's agenda will include reports from chairmen of standing committees. The meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. in the association's board room at Martinez.

TOASTED ONIONS

Use instant toasted onions in your cheese dips. Their crispness is a nice accent to the soft cheese.

County's Water Fight Supported

The Federal government's proposed $4.1 billion Pacific Southwest Water Plan would be doomed if the County Supervisors Association of California had its way.

At a recent meeting in Sacramento the group backed a resolution, proposed by the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors, asking that the plan not be put into effect.

The association said the proposal's details were "too unclear" in details affecting the future water supplies of California and other western states.

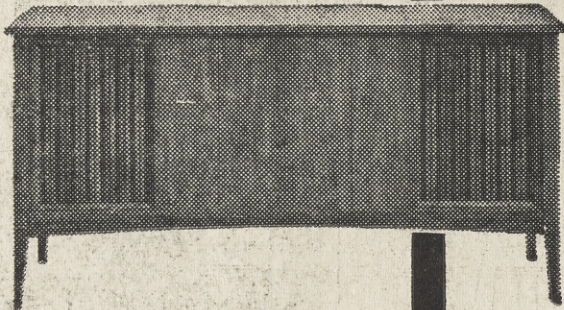

The Federal government's major proposal is to divert water from Northern California rivers and streams to Southern California since Arizona will be getting more Colorado River water.

Six reasons why you'll waltz through washday with an automatic dryer:

You won't have to lift and lug those back-breaking baskets of wet wash any more. (The average homemaker carries about two tons of wet wash to the line each year.)

Ironing is easier. New damp-dry settings make clothes come out just right for ironing. And some fabrics come out so wrinkle-free, they need no ironing at all.

You'll be able to dry your wash at any hour of the day or night. And don't forget the weather! Or rather, do forget it. With a dryer, any day is wash day.

Laundry comes out soft, fluffy... looks and feels good. And a dryer's ultra-violet light gives your clothes the sweet smell of summer sunshine all year long.

You'll save money on clothing—especially for "small-fry." Clothing lasts longer, and fewer clothes and linens are needed when you can wash and dry any time.

You'll feel so much fresher at the end of the day. And think of the extra time you'll be able to spend with your family—instead of with your clothesline.

Most College Students Go On, Say Officials

Seventy-six per cent of Diablo Valley College's 3553 fulltime students are planning to transfer to a four-year college or university upon graduation, John L. Carhart Jr., registrar, told the governing board of the Contra Costa Junior College District last night.

Carhart appeared with other DVC administrators and students in the first of a series of presentations designed to acquaint the board with the scope of services and activities on the district's two college campuses. ALSO ON THE agenda were Verle C. Henstrand, dean of student personnel; William F. McCluskey, student activities advisor; William J. Walsh, counselor; James Hernandez, student body president, and George Holmes, commissioner of the DVC inter-club council.

Carhart also noted that 37 per cent of entering freshmen this fall came from the 14 high schools served by DVC, an increase of 10 per cent in 10 years. C. Patrick Carter, Diablo Valley College apprenticeship program advisor, reports that 156 students, representing every community in the central and eastern section of Contra Costa county, are currently enrolled in DVC apprenticeship programs.

DVC offers apprenticeship training, along with related classroom instruction, in auto mechanics, electricity, mill cabinet, painting and decorating, plastering and cement masonry and plumbing.

AN APPRENTICE, Carter explained, works both on-the-job and in the classroom to develop skills and knowledge that will qualify him as a journeyman in his selected trade.

At DVC each trade has an educational advisory committee composed of equal representation from management and labor. Each committee advises the school and coordinates the requirements of its trade, with the result that DVC programs are being constantly updated to meet the changing needs of industry.

The newly formed Alameda-Contra Costa Industry-Education Council, organized to develop cooperative programs for the enrichment of education, met recently on the Diablo Valley campus to discuss future projects.

Cochairman of the group, representing education, is Karl O. Drexel, director of DVC. The organization is an affiliate of the Northern California I.E.C.

THE COUNCIL'S first project, it was decided, will be a job interview film to be developed in cooperation with the California Employment Service. The council, Drexel explained, will not develop its own projects, but will act as a clearing house for other groups having the same purposes.

The council is composed of civic, business, industrial, professional and educational leaders in substantially equal numbers representing geographical and population areas of the two counties. Richard H. Felter, president of Cavalier of California, Oakland, representing industry, is the chairman.

UNTRAINED DRIVERS

In a study of nearly 70,000 Maine drivers, a joint study by the department of education and the division of motor vehicles showed that the untrained drivers in the group had 11 times as many accidents per 100 drivers as the trained drivers.

Workshop Held On Secondary Education

Acalanes Union High School District secondary teachers will attend an all-day in-service workshop Oct. 23. The workshop will stress "improving instruction." Individual subject area study sessions will cover teaching trends and subject content in more than 13 high school curriculum areas. The workshop is part of a regular in-service activity observed by the district.

As a part of the day's activities, more than 39 text book publishers' representatives and instructional materials suppliers will exhibit and demonstrate teaching aids.

Planned by district assistant superintendent for education, Leland Russell, and teacher-coordinators from school departments, the workshop will include exploratory discussions of flexible daily scheduling, adaptations for team teaching, a correlated science-math-English-industrial arts program for the capable average student, closed-circuit television for use in the single school plant, implementing an Acalanes District English project to further stimulate reading and writing, new audiovisual instructional aids, data processing concepts for high school business education students, trends in math and in science instruction, individual fitness programs in physical education, modern language teaching techniques, school cooperation with law enforcement and juvenile authorities, and many other topics.

COMMENTING on the workshop day and the theme "improving instruction," District Superintendent Neil M. Parsons explained, "The Acalanes District has a recognized educational program staffed by excellent teachers. In general, secondary education today has a vitality exceeded perhaps only by the increasing demands for wider educational services. We anticipate that the workshop day will give instructors a chance to discuss subject content and instruction with authorities in various subject fields, and to evaluate educational trends and adaptations for their own teaching activities."

An Acalanes District instructional staff of 295 teachers, counselors, and administrators will hear Dr. William Sanborn, director of instructional materials, San Francisco Unified School District, kick-off the workshop day at a morning general session. Dr. Sanborn's presentation on "Improving Instruction in Today's High School," will be followed by the subject area discussion sessions and demonstrations. The program is being held at Del Valle High School and involves teachers from Acalanes, Campolinda, Del Valle, Las Lomas and Miramonte. Students from these schools are excused for the day.

Hallowe'en Treats To Aid Children Worldwide

"When this year's little Hallowe'en visitors come to your door, they may ask you for a 'treat' for all the world's needy children — for a donation to UNICEF, the United Nations' Children's Fund," says Mrs. George Wilson, Walnut Creek, chairman of the Co-op's UNICEF Hallowe'en project, now in its seventh year in the valley area.

The project, established 10 years ago by an American Sunday school class, has mushroomed across the country, with two million children participating last year.

EQUIPPED with their official cartons, each group accompanied by an adult, youngsters will again go their costumed rounds, asking that families make what contribution they can for the millions of unfortunate youngsters over the globe who lack basics of living.

"Ten cents of your contribution will insure vaccine against tuberculosis for ten children, or it will provide fifty glasses of milk to little ones suffering from malnutrition," Mrs. Wilson explains.

LOCAL WOMEN serving on Mrs. Wilson's committee include Mmes. Donald R. Barber and Neil K. Snortum, Walnut Creek; Wilbur Bower, Larry Collins, Fred Christmann, Robert Lomas and Austin Bryant, Lafayette; Lawrence Blackwood and Frank R. Young, Concord; Marriott Dickey, Orinda; Eric Raynor and Lloyd Scaff, Pleasant Hill; and Daniel H. Fletcher, Martinez.

Cartons for collection may be picked up at Co-op Center at 1295 S. Main or at 1510 Geary Road, Walnut Creek, from Wednesday through Oct. 31.

WHEN THE youngsters return their cartons after making their Hallowe'en rounds, they are invited to attend a party in their costumes at the Geary Road Center, from 6:30-9 p.m. There will be refreshments, one of Walnut Creek's Dale Andersen's specially written puppet shows, "The Witch's Cat," and Happy the Clown (secretly Concord's Lawrence Blackwood). Last year's Co-op project was participated in by 600 local children.

The UNICEF project, initiated in 1957 as a member activity at the Walnut Creek Co-op, works in cooperation with the American Association for the United Nations, of which Mrs. F. W. McCracken, Alamo, is valley area chairman.

Lumber Company Conducts Do It Yourself School

Something new in the area got underway last Saturday, when Pearson Lumber Company on Hookston Road in Pleasant Hill commenced its "Do It Yourself" remodeling school.

With close to 100 "students" in attendance, Robert Lustig, architect from Design Associates, Concord, and Robert Giese, chief engineer, Contra Costa County Building Department, conducted the first class on Architectural Design and County Building Code requirements.

The lumber concern has obtained on "old beat up shack" which they intend to turn into a model home, utilizing student labor at classes held each Saturday morning for the next ten weeks. One class is held from 9 to 10 a.m., and is then repeated from 11 to noon. Attendance is optional, there is no cost, and no obligation in any way.

According to John Pearson, owner of the yard, a student will be "graduated" if he attends any four of the 10 sessions, and will be awarded a diploma. This diploma will then be good for a 10 percent discount on all building materials for life. "This ought to be a real incentive to anybody to attend our school," stated Pearson.

Because space is limited, students are urged to call the lumber yard and register for those classes they wish to attend.

Water Shortage?

A REASSURING but caution-tempered report has been issued by the Department of the Interior on U.S. water resources. Fears of a water shortage caused by multiplying human and industrial needs have been widely expressed but, says the department, the country as a whole has ample water, including large reserves underground. This ground water now supplies about a fifth of all water withdrawn for use. The whole water question is clouded by a lack of specific knowledge, the report warns, including knowledge of ways of recharging underground reservoirs.

Medical Talks Continue In Walnut Creek

Mary B. Olney, M.D., pediatrician and founder of the camp for diabetic children, was the second speaker in the medical symposium series being held each Monday evening at the multi-use room at Las Lomas High School.

The six-weeks series is sponsored by the Tuberculosis and Health Association of Contra Costa as part of their professional education program.

Further information on the medical program can be obtained by telephoning the office of the Tuberculosis and Health Association at 935-0472.

County Faces Water Problem

Contra Costa County has until Dec. 21 to decide if it will accept the 21,000 acre feet of South Bay Aqueduct water allocated to it by the state.

William E. Warne, director of the State Department of Water Resources, said that if the county does not take the water by the deadline it will be reallocated to the Southern California area.

Warne asked for a meeting of the Board of Supervisors at 10 a.m. Nov. 6 to discuss the matter.

BARTD Adds A New Engineer

Charles H. Shaw, assistant chief right-of-way agent for the Washington State Highway Department, has been named to a key post in the engineering team designing the Bay Area's new rail rapid transit system.

He will serve as right-of-way engineer for Parsons Brinckerhoff-Tudor-Bechtel, the engineering consultants to the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

ACCIDENTS

Traffic accidents will not subside until motorists learn to make driving decisions correctly, quickly and regularly. The average city driver must make as many as 2000 decisions a day behind the wheel, proof enough of the need for constant driver attention and a willingness to adjust to conditions.

Assn. To Select Head Officers

Third annual meeting of Contra Costa Mental Health Assn. is due on Nov. 4 at 8 p.m. at Diablo Valley College with election of officers and a program by a nationally known speaker set for the evening.

Rev. Aron Gilmartin of Walnut Creek will conclude his term as president. Executive officers will be selected and new members added to the board of directors increasing the group from 27 to 35 members.

NOMINATIONS WILL be presented by a committee headed by Harlan Lewis of Lafayette. Serving with him are Mrs. Robert T. Adams, Lafayette; Dr. Y. Togasaki, Thomas Martin, Martinez; B. O. Wilson, Walnut Creek; A. D. Williams, Richmond; Miss Zella Parker, Orinda.

Program details for the open meeting are being completed by Warren K. Waite, Pittsburg. Assisting him as a planning committee are Dr. Maxine Sehring, Lafayette, cochairman; Miss Marjorie Warner, Mrs. Victor Ericson, Pittsburg; Mrs. William C. Miller, Pleasant Hill; Harry Larson, Antioch; Mrs. Estelle Girande, Walnut Creek; Mrs. Gillis, El Sobrante.

HELL KNOWETH NO FURY — Like the Avon Refinery near Pacheco this week due to low lying cloud formations, reflections from this replica of Dante's Inferno were visible strongly as far south as Lafayette. No cause for worry, since this scene is typical of what goes on all the time. The brilliant flare is caused by a big flame which is burning constantly to get rid of waste gases.

Name Antique Car Winners

Winners in the Walnut Festival parade's new classification, antique automobiles, were announced recently by Ed Warren, parade chairman.

First place went to Rol R. Free, Oakland, and his 1908 Reo touring car.

Second place winner was Lester Dishong, Concord, who entered his 1899 General Electric Buggy.

Road Numbers Will Be Changed Throughout Area

After July 1, 1964, each state highway in California will be known by only one official route number.

State division of highways communications during the transition period prior to the change will bear both the old and new route numbers to assist in identification.

The California Legislature, in revising the highway numbering system, gave first priority to the Interstate Route numbers on the routes designated as the Interstate Highway System in California, so as to conform to the numbering system on the national interstate system.

Where portions of the interstate route have already been constructed, the interstate route number signs are already placed. On sections to be constructed in the future, the old U.S. highway numbers will remain along with the interstate numbers until construction is completed, or later, if required for the guidance of motorists.

The new numbering system will be more convenient for the motorists and for others keeping records which require route designations. An intensive study will be made between now and July 1, 1964 by the division of highways to determine the signing needs and the revisions revisions required to adjust to the new system.

On the accompanying map both constructed and future routes are shown and the officially adopted relocations have been shown in lieu of the presently traveled route. Where two routes coincide for short distances, both route numbers will be shown on the signs to be installed.

TURKEY VULTURES

The turkey vulture, according to the National Automobile Club, attains a wingspread of up to six feet.

Board Says No To Take-Away Water Proposal

The Board of Supervisors has unanimously adopted a proposal asking Gov. Edmund G. Brown to oppose the Pacific Southwest Water Plan, suggested by U. S. Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall.

Udall's proposal calls for a 50-year master plan to develop water resources in five states—California, Arizona, New Mexico, Utah and Nevada.

The $4.1 million plan would tap Northern California rivers and send their water to Southern California and Arizona.

New Officers Of Cancer Society Elected At Meet

New officers were installed, 25 board members elected and certificate awards for service during 1963, the "year of the volunteer," were presented to American Cancer Society leaders from all parts of Contra Costa County at the society's annual meeting held in Orinda recently.

Sheriff Assigns Three Deputies To Department

Sheriff Walter F. Young has announced the appointments of three new deputy sheriffs to his staff at the Contra Costa County Sheriff's Department, and the retirement of one deputy sheriff.

Two of the appointments were made to fill new positions authorized to the Sheriff August 1 by the Board of Supervisors. These two men are:

SANFORD C. Johnson, 24, a former member of the Sheriff's Reserve, resides at 2041 Highland Drive, Concord, with his wife, Judith, and their three children. He is a graduate of San Ramon Valley High School, Danville, and is currently attending police training classes at Diablo Valley College during off duty hours.

Deputy Johnson, a veteran of the United States Army, was employed on a temporary basis at the county jail prior to receiving his permanent appointment Sept. 19.

FILLING THE second position will be Peter G. Robertshaw, 28, who is temporarily residing at 1025 Pine Street, Martinez, pending the move of his wife, Shirley, and their four children from their former home in Par-mount, California. Deputy Robertshaw, a graduate of Spencer, Massachusetts, schools, is a veteran of the United States Navy, having served during 1952-55.

Prior to his appointment on Oct. 7 he had been a patrolman with the Compton Police Department in Southern California for the past five years, and also completed police training in that area.

AFTER completion of a week's orientation of the Sheriff's Department, Johnson and Robertshaw will be assigned to the detention division, thus releasing the services of two detention personnel who will assume regular patrol duties in order to increase patrol coverage to Contra Costa County residents.

The third deputy sheriff was employed to fill a vacancy created by the recent promotion of Robert Sang Jr., to a sergeant's position in the detective bureau on Aug. 13, according to Sheriff Young.

FILLING THIS vacancy is Howard E. Van Orden, 33, of Downey, California. He will be moving to this area with his wife Lillian and their two children to perform deputy sheriff duties.

Deputy Van Orden, a graduate of Dundee, New York schools, is a former sergeant of the United States Army and saw active duty during the Korean conflict.

Prior to accepting employment with the Sheriff's Department, he was employed as a patrolman with the Downey Police Department for the past 4½ years. Deputy Van Orden received his police training at Ceritos Junior College and Los Angeles State in Southern California, and has been in the law enforcement field since 1953. After orientation, he, too, will be assigned to the detention division.

Sheriff Young has also announced the retirement of Deputy Sheriff Robert A. Penny, 40, who resides with his wife, Audrey, and their two children, at 695 Sonoma Street, Richmond.

Deputy Penny retired Sept. 18, by reason of a disability. He had been a member of the department since his deputy sheriff's appointment in January, 1957, to the detention division. In November, 1959, he received a promotion and assumed regular patrol duties with the Patrol Division.

vision where he was assigned until his disability retirement.

From 1942 until 1946, 18,000 cadets, among them astronaut Scott Carpenter, were trained at Saint Mary's. Famous for its athletic teams, the Pre-Flight school also graduated eight airmen who went on to win the Navy Cross in World War II.

Principal speaker at the ceremonies beginning at 1 p.m. will be Admiral David L. McDonald, Chief of Naval Operations and member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The event is being co-sponsored by the College and the Bay Area Councils of the Navy League. Participating in the program will be Fleet Admiral Chester Nimitz, former commandant of the school, Admiral Clyde W. King, and flag and general rank officers of the area.

An impressive military honors ceremony is scheduled for 10:45 a.m. at which time Admiral McDonald will arrive on the campus. Participating will be the 12th Naval District Band and a detachment of Marines from the U.S. Naval Weapons Station, Concord.

Over 65 Urged To Check SS District Office

A good many people 65 and over in Contra Costa County are losing monthly social security payments because they have not recently checked with their social security office, according to Morgan J. Shea, district manager of social security in Berkeley.

These people fall into two main groups. In the first group are those who do not believe they have worked long enough under social security to qualify for payment. Changes in the law in recent years have reduced the amount of work required for payments.

The second group are those who are 65 and over and are still working. Many in this category may be eligible for some benefits, even if they earn over $1200 a year.

For instance, a man over 65 with a wife who is also 65 or older may, depending upon the amount of his benefit, make as much as $3500 a year and still receive some payments for social security. A single person in some instances can receive some payments even though he makes $2000 a year.

Regardless of earnings, payments can be made for any month in which a person earns $100 or less and is not active in a business of his own. If his total earnings for the year are $1200 or less, payments may be made for every month in the year.

The Berkeley district office is located at 1950 University Avenue. An application is effective as much as 12 months before the month it is signed. Because of this, it is possible, in some cases, to pay benefits for the preceding 12 months.

FARMS

According to a recent Census of Agriculture, California farmers operate 160,000 tractors, 131,000 motor trucks, 127,000 automobiles, and 25,000 pieces of other motorized farm equipment.

The Berkeley district office is located at 1950 University Avenue. An application is effective as much as 12 months before the month it is signed. Because of this, it is possible, in some cases, to pay benefits for the preceding 12 months.

Cub Packs Set Nov. 2 Pow Wow

Twenty Cub packs of Mt. Diablo Council have registered 83 leaders for the annual Cub leaders' pow-wow, scheduled for Nov. 2 at College Park High School, Pleasant Hill, according to Jack Jardine, Concord, chairman of the attendance committee.

Training credit toward the Scout's Award, the Cubmasters' Key, and the Den Mother's Training Award goes to all who complete the full day's schedule, which runs from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

"Packs in Berkeley and Contra Costa County may still sign up their leaders until Oct. 25," stated Jay Cortes, general chairman. "This is the big once-a-year opportunity for leaders to get the help they want in putting a vital program into their dens and packs. We hope every pack will be represented by five adults—one for each of the five sections of the pow-wow."

Mrs. Dean DeGraffenreid, 10 Hall Drive, Orinda, is chairman of the Blue and Gold banquet demonstration presentation, Cortes announced.

She will show pack leaders some fine points of planning and carrying out the program, table decorations, and skits for the event, which happens every February in observance of the birthday of scouting.

Chairmen of the five instructional sections are Paul Lovegren, Richmond, games; Joyce Farrante, Concord, themecraft; Hiram Wolf, Pleasant Hill, ceremonies and skits; Lee Tardiville, Pittsburg, pack administration, and Norm Brennanstall, Concord, Webelos dens.

Cub Scouting exhibits will be on display under direction of Herb Zenger, Danville.

Career News Students Meet At DVC Friday

The third annual Career Publishers' Conference for career journalists, sponsored by the publishers of four local daily newspapers in the central and eastern sections of the county, will be held at Diablo Valley College next Friday, it was announced today by Hal C. Cheney, college district coordinator of business and distributive education.

The luncheon affair will be held at 12:30 p.m. in the Student Activities Building. Guests will be selected editorial and advertising staff members from DVC and the 16 high schools within the area served by the college.

College Director Karl O. Drexel will open the program with introductory remarks, followed by the appearance of B. R. Stokes, newly appointed general manager of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District, who will talk on careers in journalism.

David P. Marin, DVC speech and journalism instructor, will moderate a panel discussion on editorial and business department opportunities in the publications field.

Stokes and publisher sponsors of the conference will constitute the panel group. The latter are Mrs. Barbara Bishop, publisher of the Pittsburg Post-Dispatch; Keith Emenegger, general manager of the Antioch Daily Ledger; Owen Owens, business manager of the Concord Daily Transcript; and Will R. Sharkey, Jr., associate publisher of the Contra Costa Gazette.

High school faculty members scheduled to attend, each with three of their students interested in journalism as a career, are: Mrs. Roxie Gibbs, Pittsburg; Thomas Ward, Antioch; Mrs. Sheila Grilli, Clayton Valley; Woods Peters, Pacifica; Henry Samborski, Pleasant Hill; Mrs. Corinne Bird, College Park; Richard Mayes, Acamenes.

Mrs. Nancy Cossitt, Lee Lomas; Mrs. Bernice Roscoe, Miramonte; Mrs. Judith Gough, Del Valle; Mrs. Mary Jane Barnes, Liberty Union; Richard Rutherford, San Ramon Valley; William Smith, Alhambra; Miss Ruby Bernstein, Ygnacio Valley; Miss Adele Deman, Mt. Diablo, and Mrs. Jean Reeder, Campolindo.

D.V. Stamp Club Will Stage Show

The Diablo Valley Stamp Club this week announced that their fourth annual stamp show will be held Oct. 25, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., in the Pleasant Hill Recreation District Building, Oak Park Boulevard and Pleasant Hill Road.

The show will feature an exhibit of more than 100 frames and tables offering stamps for sale. Free stamps will be given to children visiting the show and numerous door prize drawings will be held.

The stamp club urges all people interested in stamp collecting to attend the show.

Use Care In Selecting Accessories

Accessories add charm to a room. They create a warm, friendly feeling. Some families display their hobbies or a book collection as accessories. Other families use pictures, pillows, flowers, plants art objects, lamps, mirrors, screens, etc.

Some accessories serve a purpose and are useful. Lamps are a necessity. They are needed for lighting but should also be chosen for the beauty they will add to the room.

SIZE OF ACCESSORIES depends on the size of the room and the other furnishings. A large flower arrangement will be in scale when placed on a large and sturdy table. Usually, a few large objects in scale with the room size and furniture look better than many small items. The numerous small items add clutter and more time must be spent in dusting and cleaning them.

When you select accessories, consider the furnishings you have. Choose accessories you and your family will enjoy for many years to come.

QUESTION: We selected the color for a bedroom from a color-card at the paint store. It was just the color we wanted. Now we are disappointed because it looks darker and brighter on the wall than we thought it would be. The color-chip matches the wall. Is there a way this could have been avoided?

ANSWER: The color-chips are small and it's almost impossible to visualize the finished room from the color selected from a color card. It is worth while to buy the smallest quantity of paint you can, then paint an area on the wall large enough so you will see how it's going to look. If it's too bright or too dark, add white paint and try another sample. Rubber base paints, especially, dry darker than when they are wet.

WHERE'S THE HARDWARE DEPARTMENT?

PART IV

This is getting to be like the "Perils of Pauline" (for those who aren't old enough, "The Perils of Pauline" was a famous serial and we used to go to the same theater every week to see the next installment of the serial). For four weeks I've been trying to answer the question .... "Where's the hardware department?"

Everybody knows that Simon's is a hardware store. Now if you will just close your eyes as you walk past the liquor department and the clothing departments and the shoe department and .... now open them! What do you see?

Oh .... you see fishing poles and bowling balls and tennis rackets and rifles and tents and sleeping bags? But you don't see any nuts and bolts.

Now I want to explain a bit about this. Lots of hardware stores have a few of these items. Perhaps not tents and outboard motors and sleeping bags .... but usually you can find a package of .22s or some sinkers for your fishing line. But at Simon's this got a bit out of hand ...

at least for a hardware store ... when you realize that in each of our stores we do more dollars of business in sporting goods than all except the 30 or 40 largest sporting goods stores in the United States. Honest! I looked it up in the Census of Business that the government makes every five years.

We know we shouldn't do it ... because selling this much sporting goods just isn't traditional. But Simon's has been breaking traditions for years. A few punsters tell us we handle all the fishing gear to lure the customers in .... and others say we are just making a racket out of tennis and badminton things. But really ... we just carry them because so many people who come into Simon's seem to want them.

This is really getting embarrassing—because you are in our sporting good department. That would place you right inside the 9th and Broadway entrance of the Oakland store or in the northwest corner of the even bigger Walnut Creek store.
